U.S. Admits Policy Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a Communist takeover seemingly inevitable in Vietnam, a senior State Department spokesman says that the United States' Indochina policy was a failure.

The statement by Robert J. McCloskey, assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, went beyond judgments rendered by President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on the deteriorating situation of the Saigon government.

"...I think it is fair to say that so far as Indochina is concerned — Vietnam specifically — the policy that had been pursued for so many years by different administrations has failed," McCloskey said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

"It failed for a variety of reasons, but I do think that ... we can master these problems, that we have not suffered permanent setbacks in all of those other areas (of foreign policy), despite the denouement on Vietnam which we are now witnessing," he added.

McCloskey, who holds ambassadorial rank, said the United States generally fulfilled its commitments to South Vietnam, but could have helped the military situation by providing more arms aid.

In an assessment April 16, Ford said the United States' over-all foreign policy has been successful, but added: "Of course there have been some instances in which we have not achieved what we sought ... In a few instances ... I think we self-inflicted some problems which helped bring that unfortunate result."

Kissinger has characterized the impending takeover of South Vietnam as "this whole tragedy" and he says the debate over Vietnam is over.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said Sunday that the collapse of South Vietnam represents a defeat for America because "it is the first time this country has ever been in the position of violating an agreement."

He apparently was referring to reports that President Richard M. Nixon had promised the Saigon government to rush American aid if there was any massive violation of the Paris peace accords by the North Vietnamese.

Meanwhile, former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford said Vietnam signals the failure of Kissinger's policies there and around the world.

Clifford, who helped shape U.S. policy in Vietnam during the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson, said in an interview that Ford should replace Kissinger.

Clifford said Kissinger is "wrong when he suggests that every part of the world has the same importance of some other part of the world."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Americans' attitude toward foreign policy is one of growing isolationism. "I hate to see it because I'm reminded precisely of the days of 1920 and 1930, when no one thought we were ever going to war again," Goldwater said on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Exhaust Fumes Kill Woman

A 29-year-old former Clark Lakes woman died as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning, 3:50 p.m. Sunday.

Barbara Lee Martin, 2041 Hampsted Dr., Columbus, was found dead by Auxiliary Deputy Ray Ratcliff when a brother-in-law notified Ratcliff that he couldn't get into the Clark Lakes house, which had not been lived in since January.

Ratcliff broke the glass in the front door to gain entry to the empty dwelling where he found the body in the front seat of the auto which was parked in the garage.

Legally separated, Gene E. Martin, told authorities he went to the Columbus residence Friday to pick up the couple's children for his day of visitation. Upon returning that evening he was unable to make contact with Mrs. Martin. He did observe her vehicle parked at a friend's home in Hilliard around 9 p.m. Friday evening.

Deputy Ratcliff and Detective Don Thompson observed that the auto's ignition was on, the engine was not operating and that the fuel gauge was empty.

A note was found on the dashboard of the vehicle which was written by Mrs. Martin.

Born July 14, 1945, in Maine, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Middendorf, both of whom survive.

She was a nurse at the Arlington Surgical Center, a member of the Grant Hospital Alumni Association and the Upper Arlington Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary.

Other survivors include her husband, Gene Martin, Amlin; one son, Dean Edward; one daughter, Tammy Sue, both of the Hampsted Drive residence; several aunts and uncles.

The funeral service will be 10 a.m. Thursday at the Webster Junk Funeral Home, 3966 Main St., Hilliard, with burial in the Glen Rest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Wednesday.

Reds Reject Truce Call

SAIGON (AP) — President Duong Van Minh was inaugurated today and proposed an immediate cease-fire and negotiations to end the war. But the Viet Cong rejected his overture.

Meanwhile, planes bombed the Tan Son Nhut air base on the edge of the city, and six parked aircraft were reported destroyed. The planes bore the markings of the South Vietnamese air force. There was speculation that the bombing was the work of government pilots opposed to dealing with the Communists or that the planes were among those captured by the Communists when they took over South Vietnamese air bases in the northern and central part of the country.

The bombing touched off a rash of anti-aircraft and smallarms fire in Saigon as people in the streets dashed for cover. Rumors raced through the city, but authorities and persons touring the streets agreed that Communist-led troops had not yet launched a ground assault on Saigon and that there was no street fighting.

Fifteen miles northeast of Saigon, North Vietnamese gunners blasted

Bien Hoa with an artillery cannonade that left the city of 500,000 in flames. The population fled, strung out as far as the eye could see on the six-lane highway to Saigon.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong's delegation to the Joint Military Commission in Saigon rejected Minh's cease-fire proposal in a three-paragraph statement read to newsmen.

It called for "an end to the Saigon administration, a tool of American neocolonialism, and an end to the machinery of war and oppression against the population of South Vietnam."

"In this case," the Viet Cong said, "the most exalted aspirations of the population of South Vietnam will be realized in a more favorable manner under the Paris agreement on Vietnam."

The statement said the United States must strictly and completely apply Articles One, Four and Nine of the 1973 Paris agreement and must respect the fundamental rights of the South Vietnamese people.

Article One pledges the United States and all other countries to "respect the independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity of Vietnam as recognized by the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam."

Article Four declares "the United States will not continue its military involvement or intervene in the internal affairs of South Vietnam."

Addressing the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government directly, the Saigon regime's third president in a week said in his inaugural speech:

"As a manifestation of good will from both sides, and to quickly end the soldiers' and people's sufferings, I propose that we stop immediately our reciprocal attacks."

"I hope you will accept this proposal and the negotiations will begin at once, after the government is set up, so that peace will be restored soon in our beloved country."

Minh indicated he would meet the Communist demand for an end to U.S. military aid and intervention in South Vietnam, saying: "Vis a vis our allies, the government of the Republic of Vietnam wants to maintain friendly relations and welcomes any help on the economic and humanitarian planes, without political conditions. This government is also ready to establish diplomatic relations with all countries, regardless of their ideologies, on a basis of equality, equal rights and without interference into one another's internal affairs."

Tens of thousands of panicky refugees stampeded toward Saigon as North Vietnamese tanks rumbled to within 17 miles of the capital. Highways to the east and south of the city were cut by Communist troops.

AP Special Correspondent Peter Arnett reported that 20 or 30 Viet Cong sappers — demolition men — occupied sections of the U.S.-built port complex at Newport. The complex is about three miles from Saigon, where the main highway north to Bien Hoa spans the Saigon River.

Arnett said South Vietnamese paratroopers pushed the sappers back into a fuel depot, then shelled the depot and set one big tank afire. The Viet Cong dug in on the other side of a bridge across the river, and as government forces closed in on them from both sides, helicopter gunships attacked them with rockets and set a U.S. aid warehouse afire.

It was the closest fighting to the city since the signing of the cease-fire agreement in January 1973.

Costly Regulation By Government Rapped By Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford said today that the government should not be stampeded into writing new federal regulations on such social issues as job safety, the environment and consumer protection.

"The question is not whether we want to do something about noise and safety — but whether making changes in our regulations would make sense in terms of costs and added benefits gained," Ford said in a speech prepared for the 63rd annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"For example, is it worth as much as $30 billion a year of consumers' dollars to reduce the level of occupational noise exposure by approximately five decibels?" the President asked.

"Have airbags been proven sufficiently cost-effective for us to require their installation in all cars at between $100 and $300 for each?" he asked.

"All too often, the federal government promulgates new rules and regulations which raise costs — and consumer prices at the same time — to achieve small or limited social benefits," Ford said.

"We must either revise proposed rules and regulations to lower their costs or we must not adopt them."

He said he does not seek to eliminate all regulations.

"Many are costly, but they are essential to preserve public health and safety," the President added.

Ford told the meeting there is an urgent need for an overhaul or elimination of many government business regulations, especially those governing competition in such industries as railroads, trucking, airlines, utilities and banking.

He said many of these regulations are obsolete and levy a hidden tax on the American people by costing more than they provide in benefits.

The President said he has several bills pending or forthcoming which are intended to reform some rules of federal regulatory agencies.

He said that among them are:

—A proposal to remove federal price controls on new natural gas sold in interstate markets. He said the present "artificially low price" of gas has curtailed exploration and development and has forced some users to either curtail operations or depend more on oil.

—An act which would enable all financial institutions to offer a wider variety of lending services and to pay more competitive interest rates.

—Legislation which would end the so-called fair trade laws which permit states to allow manufacturers to dictate the price of their products.

—A comprehensive transportation program to change regulations governing railroads, airlines and trucking firms. The first of these bills would permit railroads to begin to adjust their rates within specified limits without interference from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Joblessness Said Cause Of Suicides

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Promiscuity, attempted suicide, and premature deaths can be side effects of the high unemployment among married male heads of households, a Dayton area family counselor says.

"The destruction of a family begins over little things," says Joseph McDonald, executive director of the Family Services Association which offers family and marriage counseling in Montgomery, Greene and Preble counties.

He said his agency is finding many more suburban families with painful problems.

"Many people are just driven to desperation," McDonald said. "Not only are suicides increasing, but, I suspect, death comes in other ways, too. They just give in, and give up."

"People don't want to be on welfare," he added. "It's not easy. It's not a free ride and it's demeaning. The most important thing, besides the blood in our veins, is our belief in ourselves and our self-respect."

Some men seem to think that when they've lost their jobs they've also lost their manhood, according to McDonald.

"The man who feels less adequate, certainly changes his sex life," McDonald said. "He's either over-demonstrative or less able to perform. I think the basis of promiscuity is the need to prove oneself, and if that's true, economic problems would result in an increase in this."

When the father is not working, family roles are distorted, McDonald explains. He said this is the time to give fathers special attention, to give them a place to be unhappy or even angry.

Rockathon Held; Susan Ford Joins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Susan Ford joined 17 Georgetown University students in a rocking chair marathon over the weekend to raise money for children of servicemen missing or killed in action.

The President's 17-year-old daughter forgot to rock as photographers crowded around to take pictures, but Washington Redskins running back Larry Brown rescued her by pushing her rocker into motion.

Joining the rockathon throughout the day Sunday were Art Buchwald, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Lynda Johnson Robb and several members of Congress. The cast of the Broadway musical "Grease" also rocked — and rolled — providing dancing entertainment.

Farm Bill May Cost Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — An analysis prepared for the White House says prices of wheat and corn are expected to continue dropping through 1977, thus triggering billions of dollars in federal farm subsidies under the farm bill now before President Ford.

The study was drafted last week by the Agriculture Department to gauge the impact of the one-year farm bill approved by Congress. The bill calls for increases in government price supports for major grain crops, cotton and dairy products.

The White House has indicated that Ford will veto the bill, possibly early this week. According to Agriculture Department officials, the analysis was intended as background material for use in Ford's expected veto. A draft of the statement and supplemental figures were made available to The Associated Press.

The draft showed that if farmers remain unrestricted in crop production through the next two years, prices they get for grain crops — assuming they get bumper harvests — will continue to slip as they have the past six months.

For example, the documents showed that the average price of wheat this year is expected to be $3.15 per bushel and then fall to a season average of $2.75 in 1976 and to $2.50 in 1977.

Under existing farm law written by Congress in 1973, the government's "target" support price for wheat this year is $2.05 per bushel. The Agriculture Department study said that is expected to rise under a cost-escalator formula to $2.19 in 1976 and then level off at $2.20 in 1977.

When the farm price of a commodity averages less than the target, government subsidies are made to bridge the gap. Thus, under current legislation, no such payments would be due wheat farmers through 1977.

But the one-year farm bill would boost the wheat target price to $3.10 a bushel this year, just below the department's projected market price average of $3.15 a bushel. Although it is a one-year bill, the administration says it would set a new plateau of farm price supports and thereby carry over through 1977 when the basic 1973 act expires.

With that assumption, the White House was told that the target price of wheat in 1976 could be expected to rise

Congress Readies Action On Viet Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress expects to complete action this week on what may be its last legislation on South Vietnam in the foreseeable future when it votes on a $327-million humanitarian aid bill.

The House is expected to give Congress' final approval Tuesday to the bill and also to give President Ford limited authority to use U.S. forces for evacuation of some South Vietnamese as well as Americans. The Senate approved the bill Friday 46 to 17.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, meanwhile, was to consider today whether to approve $50 million in humanitarian aid for Cambodia.

The bill, introduced Friday by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and cosponsored by nearly all the panel's members, would approve the money only for programs that international organizations are conducting.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, both said Sunday that President Ford should bring Americans out of Vietnam quickly so that use of U.S. military evacuation forces will not be necessary.

Assistant Secretary of State Robert J. McCloskey indicated the Ford administration hopes to pull out 130,000 South Vietnamese as most.

Although administration officials have said up to one million South Vietnamese could be in danger for associating themselves with U.S. policy, McCloskey said that many could not be absorbed by the United States. He said it is a figure that "I don't think probably was ever realistic."

Senate Republican Leader Scott said the 130,000 includes up to 125,000 South Vietnamese plus 5,000 Cambodians in embassies around the world.

Both Scott and Church denounced a reported contingency plan for landing U.S. Marines to bring out 200,000 South Vietnamese.

to $3.32 a bushel and to $3.33 in 1977 if the one-year bill became law. With both levels above the projected farm price of wheat in those years, the government would have to make subsidy payments.

In all, according to the analysis, wheat payments to farmers in 1976 could total more than $1.1 billion under the escalation prompted by the one-year bill and an additional $1.4 billion in 1977.

A similar situation was shown for corn. The department estimated that corn growers would be paid between $2.9 billion in 1976 and $3.3 billion in 1977 under the bill.

Scott said he believes no U.S. forces will be needed except Marines on helicopters to keep crowds away.

Scott also said he believes fast pullout of all Americans "in a single airlift, and quickly" would expedite negotiations between incoming South Vietnam President Duong Van Minh and advancing Communist-led forces.

The bill expected to get Congress' final approval Tuesday would authorize President Ford to bring out South Vietnamese, if U.S. troops are required, only if the refugees could be evacuated incidentally to Americans and their dependents.

The bill prohibits use of any more troops than are needed to evacuate Americans and prohibits the troops' going into additional areas or staying longer to get out South Vietnamese.

Costly Regulation By Government Rapped By Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford said today that the government should not be stamped into writing new federal regulations on such social issues as job safety, the environment and consumer protection.

"The question is not whether we want to do something about noise and safety — but whether making changes in our regulations would make sense in terms of costs and added benefits gained," Ford said in a speech prepared for the 63rd annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"For example, is it worth as much as $30 billion a year of consumers' dollars to reduce the level of occupational noise exposure by approximately five decibels?" the President asked.

"Have airbags been proven sufficiently cost-effective for us to require their installation in all cars at between $100 and $300 for each?" he asked.

"All too often, the federal government promulgates new rules and regulations which raise costs — and consumer prices at the same time — to achieve small or limited social benefits," Ford said.

"We must either revise proposed rules and regulations to lower their costs or we must not adopt them."

He said he does not seek to eliminate all regulations.

"Many are costly, but they are essential to preserve public health and safety," the President added.

Ford told the meeting there is an urgent need for an overhaul or elimination of many government business regulations, especially those governing competition in such industries as railroads, trucking, airlines, utilities and banking.

He said many of these regulations are obsolete and levy a hidden tax on the American people by costing more than they provide in benefits.

The President said he has several bills pending or forthcoming which are intended to reform some rules of federal regulatory agencies.

He said that among them are: —A proposal to remove federal price controls on new natural gas sold in interstate markets. He said the present "artificially low price" of gas has curtailed exploration and development and has forced some users to either curtail operations or depend more on oil.

—An act which would enable all financial institutions to offer a wider variety of lending services and to pay more competitive interest rates.

—Legislation which would end the so-called fair trade laws which permit states to allow manufacturers to dictate the price of their products.

—A comprehensive transportation program to change regulations governing railroads, airlines and trucking firms. The first of these bills would permit railroads to begin to adjust their rates within specified limits without interference from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Joblessness Said Cause Of Suicides

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Promiscuity, attempted suicide, and premature deaths can be side effects of the high unemployment among married male heads of households, a Dayton area family counselor says.

"The destruction of a family begins over little things," says Joseph McDonald, executive director of the Family Services Association which offers family and marriage counseling in Montgomery, Greene and Preble counties.

He said his agency is finding many more suburban families with painful problems.

"Many people are just driven to desperation," McDonald said. "Not only are suicides increasing, but, I suspect, death comes in other ways, too. They just give in, and give up."

"People don't want to be on welfare," he added. "It's not easy. It's not a free ride and it's demeaning. The most important thing, besides the blood in our veins, is our belief in ourselves and our self-respect."

Some men seem to think that when they've lost their jobs they've also lost their manhood, according to McDonald.

"The man who feels less adequate, certainly changes his sex life," McDonald said. "He's either over-demonstrative or less able to perform. I think the basis of promiscuity is the need to prove oneself, and if that's true, economic problems would result in an increase in this."

When the father is not working, family roles are distorted, McDonald explains. He said this is the time to give fathers special attention, to give them a place to be unhappy or even angry.

Rockathon Held; Susan Ford Joins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Susan Ford joined 17 Georgetown University students in a rocking chair marathon over the weekend to raise money for children of servicemen missing or killed in action.

The President's 17-year-old daughter forgot to rock as photographers crowded around to take pictures, but Washington Redskins running back Larry Brown rescued her by pushing her rocker into motion.

Joining the rockathon throughout the day Sunday were Art Buchwald, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Lynda Johnson Robb and several members of Congress. The cast of the Broadway musical "Grease" also rocked — and rolled — providing dancing entertainment.

ROUNDTOWN

JOE Fenneken, Williamsport, didn't find the first mushroom or the most mushrooms, but he has found one of the largest reported to date ... While strolling along the Penn Central Railroad tracks near his home, he discovered a sponge mushroom measuring eight inches tall and six inches in diameter.

PICKAWAY County Game Protector Tom Weldon spotted a pair of rare osprey possibly nesting at Deer Creek State Park Sunday ... The bird, more commonly called the fish hawk, is native to only about five Ohio counties ...

It is dark brown on its backside with pure white coloring on its chest and stomach ... Osprey build large, bulky nests that they return to year after year ... They feed on fish which they capture by hovering above the water and then diving to a shallow depth ...

Osprey are protected by Ohio fish and game laws, and are an endangered specie.

Gun Control Bill Faces Rough Road

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland area lawmaker pushing hard to get hearings under way on gun control legislation may try an end run around the path-blocking House Reference Committee.

Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, ran into an obstacle last week when he attempted to get the committee, headed by Rep. James L. Baumann, D-32 Columbus, to let go of a packet of bills it has had in limbo for months now.

Baumann said Lehman's request was related to the 11 member panel, which can stifle bills permanently by simply not referring them to standing committees, and that not a single member was willing to let the gun bills go.

The chairman and several other leadership spokesmen have said privately that with the state budget bill and other major issues pending, a series of emotionally-charged hearings on gun control is something they don't need.

Lehman, who would like to see an outright ban on handguns or at least

Two Arrested In Theft Of Posts

Two West Virginia persons were charged with petit theft and breaking and entering when stopped by Patrolman Daub of the Circleville Post of the Highway Patrol, 11:35 p.m. Saturday.

Dessie K. Chandler, 28, S. Charleston, W. Va., was parked along Route 23 south of Weigand Road near the Robert Johnson farm, when Ptl. Daub stopped to investigate.

Mrs. Chandler told Daub her husband, James H. Chandler, 31, was walking the dog and that he would return soon.

Daub called for Chandler, but there was no response.

Notifying Sheriff's Authorities, Daub noticed two 4-foot by 4-foot posts in the back of the pickup truck. He also observed that two other posts had been dropped in a nearby lane.

After Deputy Billy Huffman had arrived, Chandler returned to the truck and told Deputy Huffman and Ptl. Daub he purchased the posts in West Virginia.

Johnson, owner of the farm, arrived and showed officers where the posts were stored.

Chandler apparently carried the posts from the barn on the Johnson farm to his truck.

Huffman charged the couple with petit theft and breaking and entering. Thieves took two farm animals, valued at $600, from a farm, owned by Larry Jean, 613 Plaza Drive, sometime between Thursday and Saturday.

The animals were taken from a pasture field.

Deputy J. P. Brown investigated the theft.

A farm animal, valued at $200, was found dead after vandals shot it in the head.

The animal was found on the George Russell farm on the Circleville-Tarleton-Northern Road.

It was owned by Joseph Russell, 194 Carolyn Court.

Commissioners Delay Payment Of JDC Funds

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous postponed payment of over $14,000 operating funds to the nearly completed six county juvenile detention center near Chillicothe.

Counties involved in the detention center are: Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Highland, Vinton and Jackson. According to Tootle, chairman of the board of commissioners, only one county has paid its share of operating expenses. The county's share is budgeted and will be paid as soon as the center is completed and in operation.

In other business, commissioners approved a request by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff to purchase 32 mattresses for the jail. They also voted to advertise for bids for two new autos to be used as cruisers, using two presently in operation for trade-in. The two trade-in vehicles will have approximately 100,000 miles each on them by the time new cars can be delivered. The bids will be opened 2 p.m. May 19.

require their registration, doesn't plan to let it go at that. As chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, he already has charge of some bills that deal with penalties for the misuse on guns.

He said he is considering calling them for a hearing next week and that they might be amended to incorporate at least some of the prohibitions in the stalled measures.

Such a move may be unprecedented, and Baumann predicted it would fail. He pointed out that three members of the Reference Committee also serve on the Rules Committee. The latter panel assigns measures to floor votes. "The bill never would get to the floor," he said.

Lehman said he had hoped that the committee would receive the original bills so that his judiciary panel could hold hearings on them in various cities around the state. That idea now has been scrapped, he said.

He said the legislature, in holding back on gun control, is going against the will of a majority of Ohioans "who would like to see something done." If the issue ever went before the people in a statewide vote, it would be approved, Lehman contended.

In addition to the proposals to ban and register handguns, Baumann's committee also has a new type of bill that would prohibit the sale of ammunition except to police and other authorized security agencies.

So-called "ban the bullet" campaigns are under way in Illinois and other states where at least the opposition by gun collectors is not expected to be as intense as before.

Terrorists Shoot Up Israeli Consulate

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Six terrorists armed with machine guns seized the Israeli consulate in downtown Johannesburg today, took five women hostages and sprayed the streets outside with gunfire that left at least 32 persons wounded.

Police said the gunmen were holding the hostages — four whites and one black — inside the fifth-floor offices near the modern Carlton center shopping complex.

The unidentified gunmen fought a running battle with police marksmen who surrounded the building and returned fire as authorities tried to clear thousands of onlookers from the area.

A journalist, Frank Fainer of the Jewish Herald, said that his office received a telephone call saying that Arab terrorists had taken over the consulate. But there was no confirmation of the identity of the terrorists.

One of the hostages shouted from a window for police snipers to stop firing about two hours after the attackers seized the Israeli offices.

She said there were wounded men in the offices and asked for ambulances to carry them to a hospital.

Police using megaphone then started negotiating with the gunmen, asking to send up ambulancemen to take away the wounded.

A rope to pick up a first-aid kit was lowered from a window and when it was hauled up newsmen saw that a walkietalkie also was attached.

Police sent for the Israeli ambassador, J. Unna, in response to a shouted request from the gunmen.

A woman shouted from the building: "We are not coming out. We want Mr. Unna." There were also shouts from other women, "Don't shoot! Don't shoot!"

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland area lawmaker pushing hard to get hearings under way on gun control legislation may try an end run around the path-blocking House Reference Committee.

Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, ran into an obstacle last week when he attempted to get the committee, headed by Rep. James L. Baumann, D-32 Columbus, to let go of a packet of bills it has had in limbo for months now.

Baumann said Lehman's request was related to the 11 member panel, which can stifle bills permanently by simply not referring them to standing committees, and that not a single member was willing to let the gun bills go.

The chairman and several other leadership spokesmen have said privately that with the state budget bill and other major issues pending, a series of emotionally-charged hearings on gun control is something they don't need.

Lehman, who would like to see an outright ban on handguns or at least

Two Arrested In Theft Of Posts

Two West Virginia persons were charged with petit theft and breaking and entering when stopped by Patrolman Daub of the Circleville Post of the Highway Patrol, 11:35 p.m. Saturday.

Dessie K. Chandler, 28, S. Charleston, W. Va., was parked along Route 23 south of Weigand Road near the Robert Johnson farm, when Ptl. Daub stopped to investigate.

Mrs. Chandler told Daub her husband, James H. Chandler, 31, was walking the dog and that he would return soon.

Daub called for Chandler, but there was no response.

Notifying Sheriff's Authorities, Daub noticed two 4-foot by 4-foot posts in the back of the pickup truck. He also observed that two other posts had been dropped in a nearby lane.

After Deputy Billy Huffman had arrived, Chandler returned to the truck and told Deputy Huffman and Ptl. Daub he purchased the posts in West Virginia.

Johnson, owner of the farm, arrived and showed officers where the posts were stored.

Chandler apparently carried the posts from the barn on the Johnson farm to his truck.

Huffman charged the couple with petit theft and breaking and entering.

Thieves took two farm animals, valued at $600, from a farm, owned by Larry Jean, 613 Plaza Drive, sometime between Thursday and Saturday.

The animals were taken from a pasture field.

Deputy J. P. Brown investigated the theft.

A farm animal, valued at $200, was found dead after vandals shot it in the head.

The animal was found on the George Russell farm on the Circleville-Tarleton-Northern Road.

It was owned by Joseph Russell, 194 Carolyn Court.

Commissioners Delay Payment Of JDC Funds

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, L. Robert Liston and Donald Strous postponed payment of over $14,000 operating funds to the nearly completed six county juvenile detention center near Chillicothe.

Counties involved in the detention center are: Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Highland, Vinton and Jackson. According to Tootle, chairman of the board of commissioners, only one county has paid its share of operating expenses. The county's share is budgeted and will be paid as soon as the center is completed and in operation.

In other business, commissioners approved a request by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff to purchase 32 mattresses for the jail. They also voted to advertise for bids for two new autos to be used as cruisers, using two presently in operation for trade-in. The two trade-in vehicles will have approximately 100,000 miles each on them by the time new cars can be delivered. The bids will be opened 2 p.m. May 19.

require their registration, doesn't plan to let it go at that. As chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, he already has charge of some bills that deal with penalties for the misuse on guns.

He said he is considering calling them for a hearing next week and that they might be amended to incorporate at least some of the prohibitions in the stalled measures.

Such a move may be unprecedented, and Baumann predicted it would fail. He pointed out that three members of the Reference Committee also serve on the Rules Committee. The latter panel assigns measures to floor votes. "The bill never would get to the floor," he said.

Lehman said he had hoped that the committee would receive the original bills so that his judiciary panel could hold hearings on them in various cities around the state. That idea now has been scrapped, he said.

In addition to the proposals to ban and register handguns, Baumann's committee also has a new type of bill that would prohibit the sale of ammunition except to police and other authorized security agencies.

So-called "ban the bullet" campaigns are under way in Illinois and other states where at least the opposition by gun collectors is not expected to be as intense as before.

8 Injured In Auto Accidents

Eight persons were injured in accidents during the busy traffic hours on Pickaway County highways.

Seventy-nine-year-old Ralph E. Woolever, Route 4, was cited by Sheriff's Deputy J. P. Brown for failure to yield the right of way when he was involved in a two-car accident, 5:40 p.m. Sunday.

Woolever, was backing from his driveway onto Route 159 when he backed into the path of a southbound auto driven by Morris P. McCoy, 43, Columbus.

Unable to stop, McCoy struck the Woolever auto in the left rear.

Woolever was referred to a doctor for abrasions to the scalp. Passengers in his auto also referred to a physician were Ruth K. Woolever, 70, for back injuries and William F. Bennett, 53, Baltimore, for a small injury to the right elbow.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Deputy J. Phillip Brown cited Karen Lynn Sowers, 18, Route 4, for failure to yield the right of way when she was involved in a two-car accident, 3:15 p.m. Sunday on Route 23 at the County Road 508.

According to the report taken by Deputy Brown, Miss Sowers had stopped for the stop sign on 508 and then proceeded across the northbound lanes of Route 23, when she pulled into the path of a car driven by Delsie E. Casto, 32, Columbus.

Mrs. Casto's auto struck the Sowers' vehicle in the left side knocking it into the median strip.

Treated and released at Berger Hospital in the Casto auto were, Mrs. Casto for chest injuries; Christopher E. Casto, 7, abrasions to the leg and cut tongue and Ralph E. Casto, 3, for abrasions to the left leg and knee.

Miss Sowers was treated for lacerations to the left hand and right side of the mouth and a passenger Cheryl Sowers, 14, for a laceration to the right hand.

Sixty-four-year-old John W. Rush, Route 1, Orient, was cited by Deputy John Bost, for driving left of center, when he drove his car off Route 762, 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

Losing control of the vehicle, Rush went through three areas of fence before coming to rest.

No injuries were reported.

A Page Of Opinion

Kelley On Privacy

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, writing in the bureau's magazine, has some pertinent remarks to make on the subject of privacy. Noting rising concern over invasion of privacy, Kelly observed:

"Endangered personal privacy is far too important an issue to obscure its source. If persons feel threatened in our society, it is far more likely the result of rampant crime than of law enforcement efforts to protect the community from lawlessness.

"Privacy is meaningless when it cannot be enjoyed, secure from the growing attacks of terrorists, murderers, bombers, burglars, rapists and robbers. If law enforcement is to stop crime and protect true personal privacy, then it must be permitted realistic weapons to combat lawlessness.

"If we have learned anything from the dramatic national events of the past few years, it is that no one can be above the law. Neither can anyone be beyond investigation. Privacy must not become a refuge for crime."

Kelley's words help put in perspective a gnawing suspicion that some people today are more interested in criticizing the police than in catching criminal offenders. If there are any doubts where the emphasis ought to be, a reading of the FBI's latest crime statistics should settle the matter.

What A Punchline

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Hard to guess what ex-President Thieu will do now, except look for a safe place to hide and open a Swiss bank account. All things considered, he had a good life in the South Vietnamese ruling party after getting off to a shaky start. He was the youngest of ten officers the CIA chose to unseat Diem in early November, 1963, and the lowest ranking — colonel. His job was to take the palace in Saigon and seize Diem. He showed up late, for some unaccountable reason, and Diem and the well-hated brother who was married to Madame Nhu, escaped to what turned out to be their deaths the next day.

Thieu managed to keep his equilibrium through a series of military governments that followed. In time, he was the lesser of the two top South Vietnamese military-political figures when we imposed an American-style election on the country. "Captain Midnight," as the colorful Air Marshal Ky was called, was numero uno. But he mysteriously announced in mid-campaign that he was running for vice president, not president, and Thieu overwhelmingly won the rigged election. The top civilian candidate had been thrown in the jug . . . and may still be there.

Thieu was a puppet of the CIA and Presidents Kennedy, who was killed three weeks after he approved Diem's overthrow, Johnson and Nixon. President Ford was still trying to persuade Congress to ship him the better part of a billion dollars in arms when — after a TV speech denouncing the U.S. — Thieu blew.

Find myself wondering what will happen to Saigon when the Reds take it. Will there be a renaming of John F. Kennedy Square in front of the old French-built Cathedral which the Viet Cong once shelled? What will they do to the desk clerk at the Caravelle Hotel, the one with the long black single hair growing out of the wart on his chin? He was always nice to American correspondents, particularly the television guys who arranged to get free TV sets for him in exchange for better rooms.

Will there be Communists instead of correspondents relaxing on the big porch of the Hotel Continental, watching the crowds go by and sipping their "33"? When the French fled after Dien Bien Phu they left behind them many footprints, mostly attractive: wide avenues and cozy side streets, beautiful trees — most of which we chopped down to ease the bumper-to-bumper traffic between downtown Saigon and two suburban strongholds, "Pentagon East" and Tansonhut airport. The French left the recipe for their wonderful sourdough bread, too, and the people of Saigon still carry the long unwrapped loaves just as the people of Paris. What will happen to the race track, if it is still operating? But, mainly, what will happen to "33", perhaps the best French heirloom? It is one of the finest beers brewed in that entire part of the world. There was a knock on it among Americans that its base was formaldehyde, but our troops drank oceans of it while there and relished every sip.

Will there be any Playboys of the Eastern world accompanying the disciplined legions of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops who pour into Saigon? Or bon vivant generals? When the Nazis took Paris, Herman Goering took a suite at the Ritz. German colonels-and-up dined and danced at Maxim's with the beautiful French broads. Tour d'Argent, with its superb view of Notre Dame, never interrupted the sequence of its numbered pressed ducks.

Saigon has some very good restaurants. They give off an unusual aroma — half French, half Ruby Foo's. The one with the best view and politest service is atop the Caravelle, which is owned by Air France. When last seen, its large windows were taped to guard against being shattered. It used to be a spectacular place to dine at night, what with hundreds of flares parachuting down in the area of Tansonhut — the better to illuminate Viet Cong suicide squads creeping toward the parked American planes and helicopters. The waiters poured the wine (French and Algerian) imperturbably during such pyrotechnics, never looking out.

A lot of Americans damned by Thieu will miss his old capital city . . . its bubbling shoeshine boys, gentle orphans, hopeless traffic, confounding language, pretty girls afloat on their bicycles as if airborne by their blossoming native dress . . . and "33."

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

DEAR EDITOR:

Have you ever stopped for a moment to consider how fortunate and special it is to be an American? Read the newspapers and most of the good news happens here in the United States.

I feel it a special privilege that I can own a home, a car, some luxuries and can travel between 500 and 3,000 miles from my home without showing a passport, a state pass or statement of possessions for a three or four week vacation paid for by my employer. Paid for? Of course. He gave me a week's pay for each week that he allows me to relax and rest. This is generally the way it is here in America.

Oh, there are some who through one cause or another are somewhat less fortunate than I. But I actually decide my own course here in America. I can become a millionaire or a pauper, depending on the amount of effort and prowess that I exert.

Perhaps through bigger and broader government agencies and controls we do not have as much individual opportunity as we had a decade or two ago. But, thank God, we are free to choose our life's course.

I have a strong belief that we will continue to enjoy this freedom because we are a nation of loving people. What about all the violence and trouble around us? Just how much is there? Obviously these stories make the newspaper headlines before a story of a young man helping a blind person across the street, or a nice gentleman in a Sunday School class offering to hold a sleeping child in its mother's arms because he noticed her being uncomfortable.

Now we are engaged in the greatest preparation of our country's history—to commemorate its 200th anniversary. I think we should give it nothing short of our greatest effort in celebrating the event by any methods or actions which portray genuine patriotic love for our country.

Organizations, leaders, churches, clubs or individuals can actually create their own original ideas to help celebrate the Bicentennial year. There is a Bicentennial committee representing every level of government.

Each of these committees have a single great purpose—to emphasize this great historical event through heritage, festivals and horizons. Respective committees will receive and coordinate all plans funneled into them and thereby set up the agenda of coming patriotic activities. Events will be advertised so that the public will know the date of performances.

This is the way the Bicentennial committee will function. You and your organization will finally create the most important celebration in history by implementing your plans through the Bicentennial committee.

Remember this very important point. You and your organizations will be causing a celebration—not the Bicentennial committee. So why not volunteer now with your enthusiastic efforts to prove that we are proud of our heritage, our history and our horizons and show your feelings to everyone.

Bicentennial—A miracle? No! In America, it had to happen.

PPG May Close Plant

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—PPG Industries, which closed a soda ash plant here because it couldn't meet Environmental Protection Agency standards, said its chemical plant may have to be shut by the end of the year.

G. John Lambillotte, works manager at the plant, said Friday that EPA antipollution regulations in effect since January make it impossible to burn Ohio's high-sulphur coal. He said there's not enough natural gas or oil and low-sulphur coal is too expensive.

About 1,000 hourly and salaried workers are employed at the facility.

PPG closed its soda ash plant here two years ago. That closing cost the jobs of 1,000 workers.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our youngest boy is 8. He is not frail, but he is distinctly smaller than other children were at his age. He is the smallest of all his classmates. I would like to know at what age he should be studied with the possibility of forcing growth through hormones.

Mrs. F. M., Ohio

Dear Mrs. M.:

It is a testimonial to you that you recognize that this problem may exist. Far too many parents do not face this reality and delay seeking advice. They procrastinate in the hope that there will be growth and that the problem will disappear.

The rate of growth varies in children of the same age. It may even vary with children in the same family.

When there is very definite evidence of short stature, investigation of it should not be delayed. Studies of the blood for hormones and hormone balance can sometimes be revealing. Specialists in endocrinology can determine hormone deficiencies and establish a course of therapy to help speed or enhance growth.

It may be that in an 8-year-old child no treatment will be necessary, and that time alone will adjust his height to normal growth patterns.

But it is important to seek early advice to be sure that social embarrassment, a great problem in undersized children, can be eliminated early.

How long do most medicines maintain their effectiveness?

Mr. B. N. B., N.D.

Dear Mr. B.:

Almost always there is an expiration date printed on the original bottle sold by pharmaceutical companies.

Pharmacists, from their records and the expiration of their own stock, can tell you the life span of effectiveness of their drugs.

The "shelf life" of drugs varies tremendously. There is no universal rule that applies to all of them. Watery and alcoholic solutions of drugs become concentrated by evaporation over a long period of time. The prescribed dose, therefore, may not be correct.

Generally, small quantities of antibiotics and other drugs used for a specific infection should be discarded.

A special note of warning: Eyedrops used for infections easily become contaminated. These certainly should not be kept "on the shelf" after a course of treatment.

Sloppy Job

By JIM BISHOP

A lightning bolt of joy illuminates the mind of a reporter when he finds an editor guilty of sloppy writing. Benjamin Bradlee, I feel, is entitled to join the Foot-in-Mouth Club. He, you may recall, is the executive editor of the prestigious Washington Post.

He is the editorial daddy of Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, the puppies who hung onto the fabric of Watergate until it exposed President Nixon and rendered him nude and disgraced. At times, the young men seemed to have lost the confidence of Barry Sussman, their immediate superior, and Benjamin Bradlee, the tense skinny man who runs the newspaper.

Bradlee recalled a buddy-buddy relationship with John F. Kennedy. It lasted from January, 1959, until Kennedy was killed, November 22, 1963. From his lofty, censorious perch, Mr. Bradlee knows the difference between a fact and a lousy memory. And yet, on the first page of his new book, "Conversations with Kennedy" (W. W. Norton), he writes of the period from his initial meeting with Kennedy through the first year of his Presidency: "I kept no formal notes of these conversations."

This is a cop-out. An editor will fire a reporter who does not keep notes. Nor is there anything called "formal notes." Just notes. He gets to me on page 222, stating: "Jim Bishop, the writer who specializes in recreating historic days, and his wife had been in the White House all day, researching a story for 'Reader's Digest' on a day in the life of the Kennedys."

We had not been there all day; we were in the White House most of the week. The article had been bought by "Good Housekeeping," not "Reader's Digest."

"The president," Bradlee writes, "wanted to know what questions they had asked Jackie and her maid, Provie, and exactly what answers they'd given. Jackie quoted Provie as saying that the Bishops had wanted to know what Mrs. Kennedy wore to bed, and who slept where . . ."

Jackie described her session with the Bishops as chaotic, with one dog biting the other, with the children shouting and screaming up a storm, and with the telephone buzzing like mad. She said Bishop had told her that everyone in the White House referred to Dave Powers as "John's Other Wife," but the president didn't seem to think that was very funny."

This is somewhat off the rails. Larry Newman, reporter-editor and a neighbor of Kennedy at Hyannisport, urged the President to have me write "A Day in the Life of . . ."

The President asked Pierre Salinger to call me. The press secretary said that Mrs. Kennedy, whose baby had died, would be off to the Greek islands for a rest. In that event, I said, I could not write the article because I required a double portrait of Kennedy — one as a statesman; one as a husband and father. No wife, no article.

Firm dates were set up for Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 1962. From the moment my wife and I arrived in the Oval Office, President Kennedy pressed me to write a book, "not a magazine article." He was an easy man to know, a charmer, a wit and he opened all the doors for interviews with his wife, his staff and White House servants.

Dave Powers told me that when Mrs. Kennedy was away, the President asked him to move into the private White House quarters. Powers' family hung the phrase "John's Other Wife" on him, and Dave thought it was so amusing that he told everybody, including the President.

Mrs. Kennedy did not want to be interviewed by me. She penned a note to chief usher Bernard West that Jim Bishop "writes in third-rate clichés." The President understood her attitude, and knew that I would not write the portrait unless I met the First Lady. Each morning, Mr. Kennedy asked anxiously, "Have you seen Jackie yet?" After the interview, he said to Mrs. Bishop, "Tell me. What did she say?"

The interview was not chaotic. It was held in two places — the private quarters of the Kennedys, where John-John ran glistening nude from a bathtub, and on the South Lawn, where the little boy ran into a mound of raked leaves in his white suit.

Editor Bradlee knows that a good reporter checks facts by "touching bases" with both sides. He didn't phone me. You may be sure, as a result of this story, the column will not appear in the Washington Post. Oh, dear. Me and my big mouth . . .

PPG May Close Plant

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—PPG Industries, which closed a soda ash plant here because it couldn't meet Environmental Protection Agency standards, said its chemical plant may have to be shut by the end of the year.

G. John Lambillotte, works manager at the plant, said Friday that EPA antipollution regulations in effect since January make it impossible to burn Ohio's high-sulphur coal. He said there's not enough natural gas or oil and low-sulphur coal is too expensive.

About 1,000 hourly and salaried workers are employed at the facility.

PPG closed its soda ash plant here two years ago. That closing cost the jobs of 1,000 workers.

Toledo Area Tops For Few Strikes

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The area around Toledo recorded the lowest number of man-days lost due to strikes among the 50 largest cities in a six-state Midwestern area during 1973, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics shows.

During the year, 79,700 man-days were lost through 23 strikes in the area, also lowest among the eight largest cities in Ohio.

It marks the second consecutive year that Toledo had the lowest number of man-days lost in the state and region.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our youngest boy is 8. He is not frail, but he is distinctly smaller than our other children were at his age. He is the smallest of all his classmates. I would like to know at what age he should be studied with the possibility of forcing growth through hormones.

Mrs. F. M., Ohio

Dear Mrs. M.:

It is a testimonial to you that you recognize that this problem may exist. Far too many parents do not face this reality and delay seeking advice. They procrastinate in the hope that there will be growth and that the problem will disappear.

The rate of growth varies in children of the same age. It may even vary with children in the same family.

When there is very definite evidence of short stature, investigation of it should not be delayed. Studies of the blood for hormones and hormone balance can sometimes be revealing. Specialists in endocrinology can determine hormone deficiencies and establish a course of therapy to help speed or enhance growth.

It may be that in an 8-year-old child no treatment will be necessary, and that time alone will adjust his height to normal growth patterns.

But it is important to seek early advice to be sure that social embarrassment, a great problem in undersized children, can be eliminated early.

How long do most medicines maintain their effectiveness?
Mr. B. N. B., N.D.

Dear Mr. B.:

Almost always there is an expiration date printed on the original bottle sold by pharmaceutical companies.

Pharmacists, from their records and the expiration of their own stock, can tell you the life span of effectiveness of their drugs.

The "shelf life" of drugs varies tremendously. There is no universal rule that applies to all of them. Watery and alcoholic solutions of drugs become concentrated by evaporation over a long period of time. The prescribed dose, therefore, may not be correct.

Generally, small quantities of antibiotics and other drugs used for a specific infection should be discarded.

A special note of warning: Eyedrops used for infections easily become contaminated. These certainly should not be kept "on the shelf" after a course of treatment.

Sloppy Job

By JIM BISHOP

A lightning bolt of joy illuminates the mind of a reporter when he finds an editor guilty of sloppy writing. Benjamin Bradlee, I feel, is entitled to join the Foot-in-Mouth Club. He, you may recall, is the executive editor of the prestigious Washington Post.

He is the editorial daddy of Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, the puppies who hung onto the fabric of Watergate until it exposed President Nixon and rendered him nude and disgraced. At times, the young men seemed to have lost the confidence of Barry Sussman, their immediate superior, and Benjamin Bradlee, the tense skinny man who runs the newspaper.

Bradlee recalled a buddy-buddy relationship with John F. Kennedy. It lasted from January, 1959, until Kennedy was killed, November 22, 1963. From his lofty, censorious perch, Mr. Bradlee knows the difference between a fact and a lousy memory. And yet, on the first page of his new book, "Conversations with Kennedy" (W. W. Norton), he writes of the period from his initial meeting with Kennedy through the first year of his Presidency: "I kept no formal notes of these conversations."

This is a cop-out. An editor will fire a reporter who does not keep notes. Nor is there anything called "formal notes." Just notes. He gets to me on page 222, stating: "Jim Bishop, the writer who specializes in recreating historic days, and his wife had been in the White House all day, researching a story for 'Reader's Digest' on a day in the life of the Kennedys."

We had not been there all day; we were in the White House most of the week. The article had been bought by "Good Housekeeping," not "Reader's Digest."

"The president," Bradlee writes, "wanted to know what questions they had asked Jackie and her maid, Provie, and exactly what answers they'd given. Jackie quoted Provie as saying that the Bishops had wanted to know what Mrs. Kennedy wore to bed, and who slept where . . ."

"Jackie described her session with the Bishops as chaotic, with one dog biting the other, with the children shouting and screaming up a storm, and with the telephone buzzing like mad. She said Bishop had told her that everyone in the White House referred to Dave Powers as 'John's Other Wife,' but the president didn't seem to think that was very funny."

This is somewhat off the rails. Larry Newman, reporter-editor and a neighbor of Kennedy at Hyannisport, urged the President to have me write "A Day in the Life of . . ."

The President asked Pierre Salinger to call me. The press secretary said that Mrs. Kennedy, whose baby had died, would be off to the Greek islands for a rest. In that event, I said, I could not write the article because I required a double portrait of Kennedy — one as a statesman; one as a husband and father. No wife, no article.

Firm dates were set up for Oct. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 1962. From the moment my wife and I arrived in the Oval Office, President Kennedy pressed me to write a book, "not a magazine article." He was an easy man to know, a charmer, a wit and he opened all the doors for interviews with his wife, his staff and White House servants.

Dave Powers told me that when Mrs. Kennedy was away, the President asked him to move into the private White House quarters. Powers' family hung the phrase "John's Other Wife" on him, and Dave thought it was so amusing that he told everybody, including the President.

Mrs. Kennedy did not want to be interviewed by me. She penned a note to chief usher Bernard West that Jim Bishop "writes in third-rate cliches." The President understood her attitude, and knew that I would not write the portrait unless I met the First Lady. Each morning, Mr. Kennedy asked anxiously, "Have you seen Jackie yet?" After the interview, he said to Mrs. Bishop, "Tell me. What did she say?"

The interview was not chaotic. It was held in two places — the private quarters of the Kennedys, where John ran glistening nude from a bathtub, and on the South Lawn, where the little boy ran into a mound of raked leaves in his white suit.

Editor Bradlee knows that a good reporter checks facts by "touching bases" with both sides. He didn't phone me. You may be sure, as a result of this story, the column will not appear in the Washington Post. Oh, dear. Me and my big mouth . . .

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Alienation of a husband's affections or alienation of a wife's affections has often been grounds for complaint in a court of law.

But what about alienation of a parent's affections? Do the children have grounds for complaint?

From time to time, claims of this kind have been successful.

In one recent case, two children filed suit against the "other woman" who had induced their father to walk out on his family. They argued that she had deprived them of not only his love and affection but also the comfort and security of family life.

Impressed, the court awarded damages to the children. The court said:

"All members of the family have a right to protect the relationship, and that includes the minor children as well as the respective spouses. A child has an interest in the affection of the parent, at least while he remains in the household."

But for the most part, courts have turned thumbs down on such lawsuits.

In another case, also brought by children against an "other woman," the court took the more traditional view. Except for financial support, said the court, a father's obligation to his children is moral—not legal.

The court added that allowing alienation-of-affections claims by children "would place the love of the parent on a commercial basis."

There have even been cases running in the opposite direction — by a parent suing for alienation of the affections of a child. But here too the courts have generally taken a dim view of such actions.

If forsaken parents could collect damages, observed one judge, so could forsaken brothers and forsaken sisters. The judge said it would open "a Pandora's box of litigation."

Bill Approves Prison Transfers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio prison inmates may someday be routinely transferred to Kentucky prisons for special rehabilitation therapy, and Arizona inmates may come to Ohio for the same purpose under a bill now pending in the General Assembly.

The bill, which recently cleared the House on a 71-9 vote, would make Ohio a member of the Interstate Corrections Compact, which allows for such transfers.

Chief sponsor of the bill, Rep. Wayne Orlett, D-34 Dayton, said the bill would allow Ohio and other states to develop better means of rehabilitating criminals.

The bill would allow Ohio to make contracts with other member states to send or receive inmates.

States would be free to set up specialized rehabilitation programs. Inmates needing a special kind of rehabilitation, absent in their own state, could be sent to the state where it's done.

Ohio would become the 21st member of the compact. Present members are Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Vermont.

Orlett said to date, member states have not embarked on programs of specialized rehabilitation.

"They have not utilized it to the extent we would like to think it could be used," he said. "But I think it's a vehicle where in the future it'll be used more and more."

He said Michigan now is considering a similar bill.

Charges Expected In Fatal Fire

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Formal charges were expected to be filed today against Herbert Garland, 52, of Bellefontaine in connection with the deaths of his wife and four children in a fire April 13.

Logan County prosecuting attorney Doug MacGillivray said Garland was arrested on charges of aggravated murder following an arson investigation into the fire.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Newest Lib Movement

DEAR ABBY: I read in the newspaper that a group of people in Milwaukee, Wisconsin organized a "Free the Apes" movement, also known as the "Ape Liberation Movement."

They want to take all the apes, monkeys and gorillas out of the zoos and cages, and put them to work in factories and on farms. They claim that monkeys can be trained to handle certain jobs as well as people-like picking berries or cotton and working on assembly lines. They could even be trained to tend bar. (No complicated mixed drinks—mostly just pouring beer.)

Abby, with so many people out of work, I think it's a crime to consider putting monkeys to work instead of people.

What is your opinion?

UNEMPLOYED IN W. VA.
DEAR UN: Don't worry. Even though monkeys would be glad to work for peanuts, until they can read, write and vote, the labor unions will see to it that people get preference.

DEAR ABBY: I've never written to you before, but there was a letter in your column that really threw me. It was from "Bone tired," the young mother who wasn't able to get all dolled up in the morning because she'd been up half the night with a sick baby. And when she served her husband breakfast in her bathrobe, he gave her the dickens because he likes to see his wife all prettied up at breakfast.

Now I've heard everything! I'm a working woman myself, and I say, "Let the guy make his own breakfast." Furthermore, if he expects to look at Elizabeth Taylor in the morning his wife should lay out a magazine with the food.

I'll bet she never made Richard Burton breakfast!

LINDA
DEAR LINDA: Probably not. Do you suppose if she had, they'd still be together?

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this letter in hopes that it will help some other drinking housewife who won't admit that she has a problem.

For the past seven years, I was slowly becoming an alcoholic, and I wouldn't face it. I gave myself all the possible excuses: The kids were getting on my nerves; my husband worked too many hours; I needed a few drinks to "relax" me in the evening.

I kept the house neat and managed to take care of the kids long enough to get them into bed, but then Mommy would pass out with a "headache."

Finally, my husband gave me a choice. The bottle or my family.

First I went to a mental health clinic. They referred me to Alcoholics Anonymous. It was a big step for me to admit that, at 28 years of age, I was an alcoholic. It was painful to realize how much it affected the lives of the people I loved the most.

They say that most alcoholics don't go for help until they reach rock bottom and have lost their jobs, families and homes. I was lucky. I didn't have to fall that far.

I haven't quite made it yet. But I am trying with all the strength I have to stay away from alcohol just one day at a time. I don't even mind telling friends and people I can't drink. It seems that everyone knew it long before I did.

"If it passes there, all the states surrounding Ohio would be a member of the compact," and a regional system could be set up, he said.

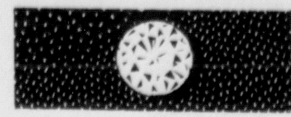

Cost of keeping the inmate would be paid by the sending state.

Orlett said the flow of inmates between the states probably would balance out, so Ohio would not have a great increase or decrease in numbers of convicts.

He said another advantage of the bill is the possibility of sending an inmate to his home state to serve his term.

He said, for example, that an Ohioan convicted of a crime in Arkansas could be sent to Ohio if prison officials determined it would improve his chances for rehabilitation to be near his home.

Rabbi Jerome Folkman Speaker For AAUW Annual Lecture

Circleville Branch American Assn. of University Women held its 13th annual Lillian Doherty Lecture on Tuesday at Nicholas Drive Elementary School.

Jean Droste, president, welcomed members and their guests to the lecture. She gave a brief history of Lillian Doherty's life and explained why the lecture was named for her. Lillian Doherty is honored each year by Circleville Branch AAUW for her forty years of service to the children, youth, and adults of our nation in the field of education.

Rabbi Jerome Folkman, Ph.D., was guest speaker for the evening. Rabbi Folkman is an Adjunct Professor at the Ohio State University in the Sociology Department. His field is in marriage and family relations. He is the author of "The Cup of Life," "Design For Jewish Living," and "Marriage Has Many Faces."

The topic for Rabbi Folkman's lecture was "Twentieth Century Woman: How New." Dr. Folkman stated that of all the changes we are going through, the change in the role of woman is the most striking. A century ago, families were patriarchal with the father as the boss. Today a marriage is a partnership where two people cope with problems together.

Dr. Folkman felt that two factors have affected the role of woman more than any others. One factor is the new longevity. Women are living longer than they did a century ago. They have many productive years after their children are on their own. The other factors is the decrease in the size of families. With smaller families, women have more time for interests outside the family.

In concluding, Dr. Folkman said that modern woman is brand new — Twentieth Century.

Calley Stays Mum On Vietnam's Fall

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—William L. Calley Jr., who came to symbolize the American dilemma in the Vietnam war, had nothing to say about that country's fall to communism.

"He's going around to colleges on a speaking contract," said one of Calley's attorneys, who described the former lieutenant as "a salable commodity."

Calley, 31, declined comment on the fall of Vietnam. He has had little to say to the news media since March 1971, when he was convicted of the murder of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, a hamlet near the South China Sea.

However, in a recent college lecture tour, for which he was paid $2,000, Calley said:

"I was not in Vietnam to analyze the war, to determine what was right and wrong. I was sent to Vietnam to destroy communism.

"I was given an M16 rifle to kill

Communists. I didn't know who the enemy was. I didn't know there was an enemy."

A federal judge overturned Calley's conviction last year and he was released from prison. The Army has appealed the ruling.

J. Houston Gordon, whose legal maneuvering brought Calley from a life sentence to his current freedom on bail, says Calley has had heavy legal expenses for four years and no income since his court-martial ended his military pay.

In an exclusive interview with The Associated Press just before he was convicted, Calley said:

"The thing that makes My Lai so unique, it was a small tragedy in a small place. No one yet has tried to analyze the problems, to my knowledge, that caused not only My Lai, but the war in Vietnam itself. I am hopeful that My Lai will bring the meaning of war to the surface."

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) Do you have a free booklet that explains how to fill out a tax return?

(A.) Yes. Contact your IRS district office and ask for IRS Publication 528, "A Guide to Preparing Form 1040." It's available free.

(Q.) I still haven't gotten a W-2 form from my employer. What should I do?

(A.) Your employer is required by law to furnish employees with their W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, forms by the end of January. However, if you do not have all your Forms W-2 before the filing deadline, report all of your income and attach a statement explaining how you computed any tax withheld for which you claim credit, but for which you have no W-2. If after you have filed your return you receive a W-2 form for income you didn't report, or your estimates of income and withholding tax were incorrect, file an amended return on Form 1040X. This form is available at any IRS office.

(Q.) How can I tell if my tax return preparer is honest?

(A.) The IRS offers the following advice to taxpayers seeking assistance from commercial income tax return preparers: never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later; do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles, and avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income. In addition, taxpayers should insist that the tax preparer sign the return he or she prepares and enter his or her tax identifying number. Finally, be sure to keep a copy of the return.

(Q.) My baby was born last year but died of a birth defect. Was the baby my dependent for tax purposes?

(A.) Yes. You can take a full $750 exemption for a dependent who died or was born during 1974 if he met the tests for a dependent while alive. This means that a baby born alive but who lived only a few minutes can be taken as a dependent. IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Your Dependents," has full information on who qualifies as a dependent. It's available free at many IRS offices.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and thunderstorms appeared likely today and tonight over Ohio, along with some locally heavy rains.

The showers were expected to linger on in the eastern part of the state, but may end in the western part by Tuesday.

Highs today were forecast in the upper 40s and 50s in the north and in the low 60s in the south.

Temperatures tonight were expected to range in the 40s and 50s, while Tuesday's high temperatures were forecast in the 60s and low 70s.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the state Sunday, with showers moving into the south and west portions during the afternoon.

A narrow band of heavy showers and thunderstorms lay between Cincinnati and Dayton all Sunday night, causing a flash flood watch to be in effect for that area.

The band of showers and thunderstorms extended from Wisconsin across southwest Ohio into the Carolinas.

High temperatures Sunday ranged from 50 at Toledo to 68 along the Ohio River.

Voter Registration Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has begun laying the groundwork for a 1975-1976 voter registration drive that will be geared to interest in the nation's bicentennial.

The campaign's theme is "Get the Spirit of '76 — Register and Vote!"

Brown's chief aid, James R. Marsh, said the secretary's office is in process of notifying 700 high schools across the state to revive the student voter information program.

Marsh said he expected county election boards again to set up registration offices in local high schools to make it as easy as possible for people to register for the June 3 primary.

"It's a problem getting people signed up for an off-year election," Marsh conceded.

The effort over the next few months will concentrate on local contests on June 3 and Nov. 4.

Marsh is also looking to 1976.

"Historically, our biggest voter turnout is at a presidential election and we would like to get citizens registered early in order that they will not have to wait in line during last-minute registration efforts," he said.

Luther Heckman, new chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, had legislators scratching their heads the other day with his responses to questions about PUCO operations.

Committee members asked if deliberations by commissioners on rate cases were public.

"All of our deliberations are public when they are made at a public hearing," Heckman replied without blinking an eye.

He explained that he and other commissioners might well mull over a case in the privacy of their own minds while sitting at their desks during a regular work day.

James Kennedy, an officer of the Ohio Power Siting Commission, appeared before the legislature's select joint committee on energy and then found out he had committed one of the unpardonable legislative errors.

Kennedy showed the committee the commission's statistical summary of 10-year forecasts by public utilities. He ran down a long list of persons to whom the report is sent, including county libraries, department heads, PUCO and its staff members.

"It seems to me that you've left out only one major group," said Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, "the General Assembly."

Kennedy looked stricken. He stared at the table and his ruddy complexion turned even redder. Finally he held up his well-used reference copy.

"I leave you this one, grubby copy," he said rather weakly as Carney grinned and the audience broke into laughter.

Kennedy promised the General Assembly would be added to the commission's mailing list.

Calley Stays Mum On Vietnam's Fall

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — William L. Calley Jr., who came to symbolize the American dilemma in the Vietnam war, had nothing to say about that country's fall to communism.

"He's going around to colleges on a speaking contract," said one of Calley's attorneys, who described the former lieutenant as "a salable commodity."

Calley, 31, declined comment on the fall of Vietnam. He has had little to say to the news media since March 1971, when he was convicted of the murder of at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, a hamlet near the South China Sea.

However, in a recent college lecture tour, for which he was paid $2,000, Calley said:

"I was not in Vietnam to analyze the war, to determine what was right and wrong. I was sent to Vietnam to destroy communism.

"I was given an M16 rifle to kill

Communists. I didn't know who the enemy was. I didn't know there was an enemy."

A federal judge overturned Calley's conviction last year and he was released from prison. The Army has appealed the ruling.

J. Houston Gordon, whose legal maneuvering brought Calley from a life sentence to his current freedom on bail, says Calley has had heavy legal expenses for four years and no income since his court-martial ended his military pay.

In an exclusive interview with The Associated Press just before he was convicted, Calley said:

"The thing that makes My Lai so unique, it was a small tragedy in a small place. No one yet has tried to analyze the problems, to my knowledge, that caused not only My Lai, but the war in Vietnam itself. I am hopeful that My Lai will bring the meaning of war to the surface."

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) Do you have a free booklet that explains how to fill out a tax return?

(A.) Yes. Contact your IRS district office and ask for IRS Publication 528, "A Guide to Preparing Form 1040." It's available free.

(Q.) I still haven't gotten a W-2 form from my employer. What should I do?

(A.) Your employer is required by law to furnish employees with their W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, forms by the end of January. However, if you do not have all your Forms W-2 before the filing deadline, report all of your income and attach a statement explaining how you computed any tax withheld for which you claim credit, but for which you have no W-2. If after you have filed your return you receive a W-2 form for income you didn't report, or your estimates of income and withholding tax were incorrect, file an amended return on Form 1040X. This form is available at any IRS office.

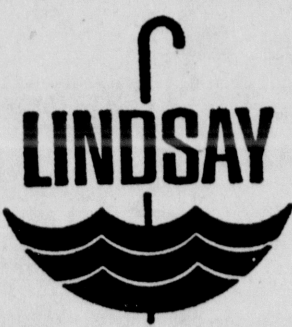

(Q.) How can I tell if my tax return preparer is honest?

(A.) The IRS offers the following advice to taxpayers seeking assistance from commercial income tax return preparers: never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later; do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles, and avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income. In addition, taxpayers should insist that the tax preparer sign the return he or she prepares and enter his or her tax identifying number. Finally, be sure to keep a copy of the return.

(Q.) My baby was born last year but died of a birth defect. Was the baby my dependent for tax purposes?

(A.) Yes. You can take a full $750 exemption for a dependent who died or was born during 1974 if he met the tests for a dependent while alive. This means that a baby born alive but who lived only a few minutes can be taken as a dependent. IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Your Dependents," has full information on who qualifies as a dependent. It's available free at many IRS offices.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers and thunderstorms appeared likely today and tonight over Ohio, along with some locally heavy rains.

The showers were expected to linger on in the eastern part of the state, but may end in the western part by Tuesday.

Highs today were forecast in the upper 40s and 50s in the north and in the low 60s in the south.

Temperatures tonight were expected to range in the 40s and 50s, while Tuesday's high temperatures were forecast in the 60s and low 70s.

Skies were mostly cloudy over the state Sunday, with showers moving into the south and west portions during the afternoon.

A narrow band of heavy showers and thunderstorms lay between Cincinnati and Dayton all Sunday night, causing a flash flood watch to be in effect for that area.

The band of showers and thunderstorms extended from Wisconsin across southwest Ohio into the Carolinas.

High temperatures Sunday ranged from 50 at Toledo to 68 along the Ohio River.

Voter Registration Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has begun laying the groundwork for a 1975-1976 voter registration drive that will be geared to interest in the nation's bicentennial.

The campaign's theme is "Get the Spirit of '76 — Register and Vote!"

Brown's chief aid, James R. Marsh, said the secretary's office is in process of notifying 700 high schools across the state to revive the student voter information program.

Marsh said he expected county election boards again to set up registration offices in local high schools to make it as easy as possible for people to register for the June 3 primary.

"It's a problem getting people signed up for an off-year election," Marsh conceded.

The effort over the next few months will concentrate on local contests on June 3 and Nov. 4.

Marsh is also looking to 1976.

"Historically, our biggest voter turnout is at a presidential election and we would like to get citizens registered early in order that they will not have to wait in line during last-minute registration efforts," he said.

Luther Heckman, new chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, had legislators scratching their heads the other day with his responses to questions about PUCO operations.

Committee members asked if deliberations by commissioners on rate cases were public.

"All of our deliberations are public when they are made at a public hearing," Heckman replied without blinking an eye.

He explained that he and other commissioners might well mull over a case in the privacy of their own minds while sitting at their desks during a regular work day.

James Kennedy, an officer of the Ohio Power Siting Commission, appeared before the legislature's select joint committee on energy and then found out he had committed one of the unpardonable legislative errors.

Kennedy showed the committee the commission's statistical summary of 10-year forecasts by public utilities. He ran down a long list of persons to whom the report is sent, including county libraries, department heads, PUCO and its staff members.

"It seems to me that you've left out only one major group," said Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, "the General Assembly."

Kennedy looked stricken. He stared at the table and his ruddy complexion turned even redder. Finally he held up his well-used reference copy.

"I leave you this one, grubby copy," he said rather weakly as Carney grinned and the audience broke into laughter.

Kennedy promised the General Assembly would be added to the commission's mailing list.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

The growing furor over medical malpractice insurance has resulted in legislation sponsored by the Ohio Department of Insurance, H.B. 682, that will completely overhaul such policies in Ohio.

The Omnibus Malpractice Insurance bill is aimed at two fundamental problems — the soaring cost and unavailability of malpractice insurance for physicians and other medical personnel. Policy costs for some doctors have more than tripled since 1974. There are presently only two malpractice underwriters left in the state, one of which is going out of business. According to insurers, rising numbers of malpractice suits and expensive personal awards have made malpractice insurance unprofitable. In protest some hospital personnel have staged work stoppages and a few doctors are discontinuing their practices.

This bill, now in a subcommittee of the House Insurance, Utilities, and Financial Institutions Committee, imposes new rules on all four groups involved — physicians, patients, lawyers and insurance companies.

Physicians would be required to undergo relicensing every three years, with a minimum of 150 hours of professional training in that period. Presently a license to practice medicine is granted for life. An elective comprehensive consent form signed prior to surgery would bind both patient and physician to claim arbitration by an independent review commission. Patients need not sign, but if they do, the physician is automatically bound to arbitrate.

A pre-determined sliding fee scale would limit attorneys' fees to prevent filing of dubious claims by unscrupulous lawyers. The maximum fee allowed would decrease to 10 per cent of the award as claims get bigger. Pooling of risk among insurance companies would reduce the chances of an unfair burden on one policy underwriter.

The administration's proposal strikes a balance between the interests of, and potential costs to, all parties concerned. I am urging my colleagues in the appropriate committees to hasten the passage of this bill to bring prompt relief to patient and physician alike.

Another measure which deserves careful consideration is a House bill which would earmark revenues from the state income tax for education, local government and tax relief.

When the income tax was proposed many people were left with the impression that it would substantially solve the financial problems of the schools. It has not done so, since much of it goes to welfare. This bill would designate tax dollars for the purpose the people intended when they approved the income tax.

However, two problems will have to be ironed out in committee. The financial needs of the state can be accurately estimated but not precisely determined in advance, so the state must have the capability to adjust expenditures to meet changing needs. This bill would somewhat restrict this capability. In addition, if these revenues are pledged for certain expenditures, the programs to which they are now allocated must be cut or alternately funded.

Last week the Senate approved a House-passed bill making a supplemental appropriation for welfare. The Department of Public Welfare originally requested $14.3 million to meet unanticipated caseload expenses, but Democrats raised this to $20 million and mandated 12 regional welfare offices.

Unemployment has caused a dramatic rise in the number of legitimate welfare cases, but the addition of another layer of bureaucracy is unnecessary to remove the provision for regionalization. The House will probably seek conference committee consideration of Senate changes in the bill.

'Stuff Stomach' Competition Held

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — When University of Dayton's football team finishes spring drills, the squad celebrates.

Fullback Mark Zimmerman, guard Sam Rampey and assistant coach Bob Shortall tied for second with 4½ pizzas each in 30 minutes.

At last year's hamburger eating contest, defensive back Greg Meter gnawed 14½ burgers in 30 minutes.

Miners Receive Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal miners' wages will rise eight cents an hour Thursday, under a cost of living provision in the new United Mine Workers contract.

It is the second raise since the contract was ratified last December, said UMW Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick. On Feb. 1, the miners got an additional seven cents an hour.

Underground miners or construction workers will get about $6 more each 40-hour week, he said. If inflation continues at eight per cent through December 1977, the provision will have added $7.84 to daily wages, he said.

Rock Island Line's Fate Worries City

ELDON, Iowa (AP) — For the 1,400 people of Eldon, a small town in southeast Iowa, the Rock Island Railroad is a way of life.

Between 150 and 200 people from Eldon and the surrounding area work for the Rock Island, and railroad employees estimate that the line provides $1.2 million annually which is spent directly in the city.

It's no wonder, then, that the possibility of a shutdown strikes fear in the heart of Eldon.

"Eldon would be dead without the railroad," said Whitey Jones, owner of the Jones Cafe. "You can depend on it now. It's our most stable business. If the railroad weren't here, I wouldn't be."

The people of Eldon have begun a campaign to raise enough money as collateral to secure a $100 million loan from the U.S. Railroad Association so the railroad can continue to run.

"We've got to do all we can, said Eldon resident Marilyn Starkweather. "If we go down, it'll be with our heads up."

One money-raising venture, known as the 5 per cent plan, allows employees of the railroad to pledge 5 per cent of their salaries for 10 years to guarantee the loan.

Enthusiasm for the plan is running high, as $387,000 in salaries over the next 10 years has already been pledged.

In addition, Eldon residents have organized letter-writing campaigns to Iowa legislators and have planned meetings with them during the congressional recess.

"As far as we're concerned here, this town has been built around the railroad," said Martha Bedford. "You take the railroad out, well, I don't know what we'll have left."

Vehicular Homicide Charge Filed

Charges of double vehicular homicide were filed by Fairfield County Sheriff Dan Berry, Friday, against Merrill S. Raver, 19, Route 1, Millersport.

Raver was initially charged with driving left of center April 2 following a head-on collision which claimed the lives of a Thornville couple, The Rev. Willard L. Cozad, 67 and Charlotte M. Cozad, 63. The couple was formerly of Circleville.

According to Sheriff Berry, the accident occurred April 2 at 2 p.m. on Ohio Route 204 near Shell Beach Road. The Cozad auto was eastbound when the westbound Raver auto allegedly went left of center striking the Cozad vehicle head-on.

The couple was pronounced dead on arrival at the Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

Find Body In Lake

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The body of a man believed to be a boater who vanished April 5 with a friend was found floating in Rocky Fork Lake Sunday morning during a routine tour by a park ranger.

Claude Bauch, chief ranger at Rocky Fork State Park, said the unidentified victim was found in a cove about a half mile from the area where two Clermont County men disappeared three weeks ago.

The missing men were identified as Steve Wilken, 25, and Ronald Kluba, 27.

The body was found with only undershorts, undershirt and socks on. Searchers had earlier found clothing washed ashore from the lake. A battery belonging to the missing boat was found by draggers.

Columbus Men Held In Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two 18-year-old Columbus men were to appear in municipal court today on charges of aggravated murder and aggravated robbery in connection with the death of an 82-year-old widow.

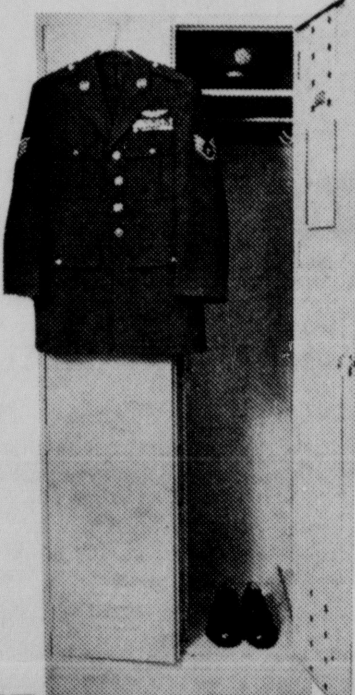

Police said the body of Bertha Smith was discovered early Saturday under a pile of papers on the bedroom floor of her apartment. Cause of death was undetermined pending the outcome of a coroner's report.

Eddie C. Humphries and William H. King were arrested Saturday, police reported. Both had been arrested on burglary charges and freed within the last two weeks, said Homicide Detective Marlin E. Hardin.

Police were alerted of the incident when a neighbor of Mrs. Smith told dispatchers she had just seen two men carrying off the widow's television set.

Mrs. Smith had also been raped, authorities said.

Vehicular Homicide Charge Filed

Charges of double vehicular homicide were filed by Fairfield County Sheriff Dan Berry, Friday, against Merrill S. Raver, 19, Route 1, Millersport.

Raver was initially charged with driving left of center April 2 following a head-on collision which claimed the lives of a Thornville couple, The Rev. Willard L. Cozad, 67 and Charlotte M. Cozad, 63. The couple was formerly of Circleville.

According to Sheriff Berry, the accident occurred April 2 at 2 p.m. on Ohio Route 204 near Shell Beach Road. The Cozad auto was eastbound when the westbound Raver auto allegedly went left of center striking the Cozad vehicle head-on.

The couple was pronounced dead on arrival at the Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

Find Body In Lake

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The body of a man believed to be a boater who vanished April 5 with a friend was found floating in Rocky Fork Lake Sunday morning during a routine tour by a park ranger.

Claude Bauch, chief ranger at Rocky Fork State Park, said the unidentified victim was found in a cove about a half mile from the area where two Clermont County men disappeared three weeks ago.

The missing men were identified as Steve Wilken, 25, and Ronald Kluba, 27.

The body was found with only undershorts, undershirt and socks on. Searchers had earlier found clothing washed ashore from the lake. A battery belonging to the missing boat was found by draggers.

Columbus Men Held In Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two 18-year-old Columbus men were to appear in municipal court today on charges of aggravated murder and aggravated robbery in connection with the death of an 82-year-old widow.

Police said the body of Bertha Smith was discovered early Saturday under a pile of papers on the bedroom floor of her apartment. Cause of death was undetermined pending the outcome of a coroner's report.

Eddie C. Humphries and William H. King were arrested Saturday, police reported. Both had been arrested on burglary charges and freed within the last two weeks, said Homicide Detective Marlin E. Hardin.

Police were alerted of the incident when a neighbor of Mrs. Smith told dispatchers she had just seen two men carrying off the widow's television set. Mrs. Smith had also been raped, authorities said.

Quintuplets Still Fine

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The parents of the Levy quintuplets today were expected to continue their ban against photographs of their six-day-old infants, according to hospital officials.

The quint, born last week to Pamela and Mark Levy, of Fairfield, Ohio, were reunited with their mother for the first time Saturday afternoon.

Doctors said the 28-year-old mother is recovering well from the caesarian section surgery. The three girls and two boys were reported to be "doing well."

A hospital spokesman said the father had asked the hospital to keep the mother and quint off-limits to reporters and photographers.

Levy, an advertising aide, said he wants privacy for his recuperating wife and still-fragile infants.

All five of the babies are being bottle-fed, including the 3-pound, 3-ounce boy who received a blood transfer hours after birth when he developed blood count complications.

Pediatricians have voiced optimism for the chances of survival of the quint, who were born four weeks premature.

The last-born of the five, a girl, was the first to register a weight gain.

The quint, as yet unnamed, are not expected to leave the hospital until late this week.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

The Ohio General Assembly spent the last full week of April acting on a number of issues ranging from the labeling of honey products to permitting the employment of vocational education students in day care centers.

While the budget bill still must be considered, the major matter before the Legislature, there were two items of special note under consideration.

On Wednesday, April 23, the Ohio House approved by a vote of 55-39, the elimination of the prohibition against the selling of intoxicating liquors on election day.

The measure, H. B. 158, is now before the Senate, and if passed, would bring Ohio Law in this area into conformity with the laws of Illinois, Massachusetts, New York, Michigan, and California, just to mention a few states which permit the sale of liquor on election days.

There is a growing crisis in Ohio and elsewhere regarding the cost and availability of medical malpractice insurance.

Individual physicians are paying thousands of dollars a year just for medical malpractice insurance, and the cost is still rising. In certain instances, some physicians cannot get such insurance.

A major result of this dilemma is an increasing cost of health care to the patient who needs medical care.

In an effort to deal with this problem, Tuscarawas County Representative Bill Hinig introduced H. B. 682, a major medical malpractice bill. The measure has several features which are designed to at least level out the cost of medical malpractice insurance, and to assure its availability.

There are basically three parts to Representative Bill Hinig's bill.

The first deals with the legal proceedings and requirements involved in a medical malpractice suit. In this area, H. B. 682, proposes to give jurisdiction in all such suits to the newly established Court of Claims. Additionally, the bill would establish a sliding scale for contingency fees permitted to be paid to the attorney of a person who wins a medical malpractice suit. The schedule would be as follows:

50 per cent of the first $1,000 of the award.

40 per cent on the second $2,000 of the award.

33 1-3 per cent on the next $47,000 of the award

20 per cent on the next $50,000 of the award.

10 per cent on the amount of the award exceeding $100,000.

The second part of the malpractice bill deals with assuring the availability of insurance. Proposed is the creation of a joint under-writing authority (JUA) wherein the Ohio Department of Insurance will provide the insurance. However, all insurance companies authorized to issue liability policies in Ohio shall contribute to the JUA and shall be assessed, when necessary, to compensate for any losses the plan might incur.

The third portion of Representative Hinig's bill call for a major revision of the Ohio Medical Practices Act. The Practices Act relates to the licensing of physicians, and is designed to assure competent medical care in Ohio.

While Bill Hinig is the chief sponsor, the bill has 40 co-sponsors. Hearings are presently being held on the bill, with House floor action anticipated in the near future.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The belief that spending by the Department of Defense has been good for the economy is a myth, a study by the student-controlled Michigan Public Interest Research Group contends.

Every billion dollars spent on the Pentagon costs the economy jobs, costs people who are employed higher taxes and produces a lower quality of life for all, the study says.

The report states that for each $1 billion spent in the military sector instead of the civilian economy, the nation foregoes 10,000 jobs in private industry or 21,000 jobs in state and local government.

Detailed analysis of economic data and military spending between 1958 and 1972 indicated that 26 states — with 60 per cent of the U.S. population lost more jobs than they gained because of the defense budget, Marion Anderson of the Lansing-based group said.

Ohio showed a net loss of 146,000 jobs, Indiana 57,000 jobs and West Virginia 22,000 jobs. Kentucky showed a net gain of 14,000 jobs.

preference, said states showing a net loss of jobs were mostly the more industrialized ones without large military installations. They included most of New England, the Middle Atlantic States, the north-central states and the eastern southcentral states.

Those showing a net gain in jobs from military bases and industry "form a geographic band which begins in Maryland and extends south to Georgia ... west to California (excluding Louisiana) and north to Washington (omitting Oregon)," Ms. Anderson's paper, "The Empty Pork Barrel," states.

"Every time the military budget is increased $1 billion, Ohio loses 1,830 jobs, Indiana 720 jobs and West Virginia 275 jobs," she said.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., who distributed the study Sunday, said it "should put to rest the suggestion that lower defense spending and changing our national priorities reduces the number of jobs."

The first call came at 1:21 p.m. Sunday and firemen dispatched to the scene, about a mile and half north on Route 23. A pick-up truck loaded with hay had caught on fire.

Estimated loss on the contents of the truck was made at $1,500. The truck was owned by Kenneth Tackett, Jackhorn, Ky.

A second call came this morning at 7:10 a.m. Firemen were called to the home of Jack Wise, 351 Meadow Lane. An electric plug had shorted out and a small loss was reported.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

The Ohio General Assembly spent the last full week of April acting on a number of issues ranging from the labeling of honey products to permitting the employment of vocational education students in day care centers.

While the budget bill still must be considered, the major matter before the Legislature, there were two items of special note under consideration.

On Wednesday, April 23, the Ohio House approved by a vote of 55-39, the elimination of the prohibition against the selling of intoxicating liquors on election day.

The measure, H. B. 158, is now before the Senate, and if passed, would bring Ohio Law in this area into conformity with the laws of Illinois, Massachusetts, New York, Michigan, and California, just to mention a few states which permit the sale of liquor on election days.

There is a growing crisis in Ohio and elsewhere regarding the cost and availability of medical malpractice insurance.

Individual physicians are paying thousands of dollars a year just for medical malpractice insurance, and the cost is still rising. In certain instances, some physicians cannot get such insurance.

A major result of this dilemma is an increasing cost of health care to the patient who needs medical care.

In an effort to deal with this problem, Tuscarawas County Representative Bill Hinig introduced H. B. 682, a major medical malpractice bill. The measure has several features which are designed to at least level out the cost of medical malpractice insurance, and to assure its availability.

There are basically three parts to Representative Bill Hinig's bill.

The first deals with the legal proceedings and requirements involved in a medical malpractice suit. In this area, H. B. 682, proposes to give jurisdiction in all such suits to the newly established Court of Claims. Additionally, the bill would establish a sliding scale for contingency fees permitted to be paid to the attorney of a person who wins a medical malpractice suit. The schedule would be as follows:

50 per cent of the first $1,000 of the award.

40 per cent on the second $2,000 of the award.

33 1-3 per cent on the next $47,000 of the award

20 per cent on the next $50,000 of the award.

10 per cent on the amount of the award exceeding $100,000.

The second part of the malpractice bill deals with assuring the availability of insurance. Proposed is the creation of a joint under-writing authority (JUA) wherein the Ohio Department of Insurance will provide the insurance. However, all insurance companies authorized to issue liability policies in Ohio shall contribute to the JUA and shall be assessed, when necessary, to compensate for any losses the plan might incur.

The third portion of Representative Hinig's bill call for a major revision of the Ohio Medical Practices Act. The Practices Act relates to the licensing of physicians, and is designed to assure competent medical care in Ohio.

While Bill Hinig is the chief sponsor, the bill has 40 co-sponsors. Hearings are presently being held on the bill, with House floor action anticipated in the near future.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The belief that spending by the Department of Defense has been good for the economy is a myth, a study by the student-controlled Michigan Public Interest Research Group contends.

Every billion dollars spent on the Pentagon costs the economy jobs, costs people who are employed higher taxes and produces a lower quality of life for all, the study says.

The report states that for each $1 billion spent in the military sector instead of the civilian economy, the nation foregoes 10,000 jobs in private industry or 21,000 jobs in state and local government.

Detailed analysis of economic data and military spending between 1958 and 1972 indicated that 26 states — with 60 per cent of the U.S. population lost more jobs than they gained because of the defense budget, Marion Anderson

preference, said states showing a net loss of jobs were mostly the more industrialized ones without large military installations. They included most of New England, the Middle Atlantic States, the north-central states and the eastern southcentral states. Those showing a net gain in jobs from military bases and industry "form a geographic band which begins in Maryland and extends south to Georgia ... west to California (excluding Louisiana) and north to Washington (omitting Oregon)," Ms. Anderson's paper, "The Empty Pork Barrel," states.

"Every time the military budget is increased $1 billion, Ohio loses 1,830 jobs, Indiana 720 jobs and West Virginia 275 jobs," she said.

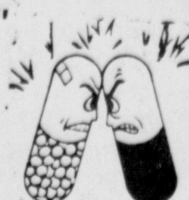

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., who distributed the study Sunday, said it "should put to rest the suggestion that lower defense spending and changing our national priorities reduces the number of jobs."

Astros Mistakes, Good Pitching Give Cincy 6-2 Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds combined good pitching and mistakes by the Houston Astros Sunday to win 6-2 and hand the Astros their 13th loss in the last 16 games.

"We are going through a spell where every mistake we make is magnified," said Houston Manager Preston Gomez. "Every time we make a mistake it hurts us."

A two-run single by Johnny Bench capped a four-run 10th inning for Cincinnati that carried the Reds to the victory.

Terry Crowley opened the inning with a pinch single off loser Doug Koniczny. Dan Driessen walked. Pete Rose put down a sacrifice bunt and Koniczny threw late to third leaving the bases loaded.

With a 2-0 count on Dave Concepcion, Wayne Granger relieved Koniczny. Concepcion grounded to short and Roger Metzger threw home in an attempt to force pinch runner Ed Armbruster but catcher Milt May's foot was off the bag and he was charged with an error as the go ahead run scored.

LE Defeats Falcons In Mid State Action

Logan Elm moved into second place all alone in the Mid State League baseball standings with an 11-8 win over Fairfield Union Saturday.

It was a makeup game for the Braves of a game rained out last Thursday. A scheduled doubleheader with London was canceled so the league game could be played.

The Braves have a 6-1 record in the league with two games remaining on their Mid State schedule. Carroll still leads with a 6-0 record.

Steve Rawlins was the winning pitcher Saturday, but he needed relief help from Derek Morris in the sixth. Rawlins fanned five, walked seven and allowed two hits, both homeruns. Morris whiffed one, walked three and allowed three hits.

The losing pitcher was Huston. The Braves went ahead in the first inning when Jeff Reichelderfer and Scott Pontius walked, Scott intentionally, and then scored on a 2-out double by Chuck Cave.

In the top of the second Steve Rawlins singled and with two outs, Greg Justus smashed a homerun over the right center field fence.

In the top of the third, Reichelderfer and Pontius beat out infield singles. Reichelderfer scored on two wild pitches. Rob Black walked, stole second and both Pontius and Black scored on Steve Rawlins' double to left center.

In the fourth, Greg Justus led off with his second homerun over the right field fence. Randy Pontius walked, stole second and scored on Cave's double. Black walked, and both Cave and Black scored on Steve Rawlins' double.

Weather permitting, the Braves are scheduled to play Fisher Catholic tonight, Southeastern Tuesday, both at home, and travel to Liberty Union Thursday.

The next meet for the Braves is a dual event with Amanda-Clearcreek at Logan Elm.

Grove City was a close second with a total of 117½ points. Other teams in order were: Hilliard, 74 points; Grandview, 54; Groveport, 48; Reynoldsburg, 41½.

Meet records were set in the shot, discus, long jump, 120 HH, 180 LH, 880 run, 2-mile run and 220 dash.

Frank Plescia was a double winner with victories in the high jump, 6 feet, and he set a record in the 180 LH, 20.7.

Other first place winners for the Tigers were: Scott Bowman, discus, 133 feet 9 inches; Jim Cordle, pole vault, 11 feet 6 inches; and Warren Yamarick, 100-yard dash, 10.6.

Race Crash Fatal To 4

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Flames and smoke clouded the sunny skies over the controversial Montjuich circuit Sunday after the worst disaster in Spain's auto racing history.

A wave of panic washed over the massive crowd of 100,000 after at least four died and another 12 were seriously injured in a tragedy that racers and officials said should and could have been averted.

The much-protested Spanish Grand Prix started innocently and cautiously over a course described by Brazilian world driving champion Emerson Fittipaldi as "too risky" and "dangerous." Fittipaldi withdrew his entry from the race Saturday, hours before death and destruction took over.

On the dangerous Font Del Gat curve of the 29th lap, the Embassy Hill car driven by West Germany's Rolf Stommelen crashed into a protective barrier, burst into flames and careened into the crowd at a favorite vantage point of the fans.

"I saw some spectators by my side aflame, as though they were human torches," said one spectator, who was grazed by the car and suffered scratches as it passed. "The car, shooting flames in all directions, landed on a group of about 20 persons standing by my side. I was convinced it was the end for me. I still don't know how I managed to escape."

Jimmy Connors Top World Tennis Player

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jimmy Connors has erased any doubt — even in the minds of the Australians — who is the world's No. 1 tennis player ... and he gained himself a half million dollars in doing so.

Armed with confidence, speed and accuracy, Connors defeated No. 2-ranked John Newcombe Saturday in an internationally televised match at Caesars Palace 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

And today, Australian newspapers crowned Connors the world's best, though none professed a liking for the irascible tennis star.

Amy Alcott, 19, of Santa Monica, Calif., was one of 16 women who qualified for the 1975 Ladies golf tour.

place finish but picked up three fourth spots: Scott Bowman, shot; Scott Simpson, 100; Mike McCoy, 880.

Fifth place finishers for the Tigers were: Alan Van Vliet, shot; George Moore, high jump; Doug Palm, mile; Jim Francis, 440; Dave Phillips, 180 LH. Frank Merrill was sixth in the long jump.

Circleville will travel to Unioto Tuesday to defend its South Central Ohio crown in the league meet. The Tigers have captured the event for the last five years and will be out to make it six in a row.

Unioto is located just north of Chillicothe on the Egypt Pike. Take Route 104 past the Veterans Hospital and turn right on Route 207. The school will be about a mile on the right side.

There will be a refreshment stand for the hungry fans.

Field events and running preliminaries will start at 3:30 p.m. with running finals set for 5:30 p.m.

Teays Valley Sweeps Two From Pickerington

Teays Valley traveled to Pickerington Saturday and swept both ends of a doubleheader with the Tigers, 4-2 and 6-5.

Brad Stuthard hurled the opening 4-2 victory as he scattered two hits, walked eight and fanned 10.

The Vikings tallied a lone run in the top of the first and exploded for three more in the fourth. The big blow in the inning was a double by Rusty Rathburn that sent two Viking runners across the plate.

Russell and Turbett shared mound duties for the Tigers. They gave up a total of six hits, three walks and struck out eight.

Picking up the hits for Teays Valley were: Steve Williams, two singles; Rathburn, double; Ron Bumgarner, single; Terry Southers, single; and Chuck Glitt, single.

The Vikings played errorless ball while the Tigers misplayed the ball twice.

Keith Pettibone was the starter and winner in the second game but needed help in the seventh inning from Mark Messick after he had walked the first two batters. Pettibone allowed 10 hits, walked six and fanned four. Messick didn't give up a hit but walked one and struck out one.

The Vikings scored a pair of runs in the first, second and sixth innings while Pickerington tallied three in the first frame, one in the second and plated a single marker in the last of the seventh.

Turbett, Saller and Perry were on the hill for the Tigers. They gave up a total of seven hits, eight walks and fanned two.

Getting hits for Teays Valley were: Terry Southers, double; Brad Stuthard, double; Ron Bumgarner, double; Chuck Glitt, single; Steve Williams, single; Jim Baxter, single, Keith Pettibone, single.

Teays Valley committed one error in the game and the Tigers had three.

The Vikings are now 11-4 for the season, 3-2 in the league, and will be at Marysville 4:30 p.m. tonight.

Al Geiberger Wins Tourney Of Champs

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — "It's nice," observed Gary Player, "to see the nice guys win once in a while."

But, while he gave full credit to Al Geiberger for the bold birdie putt that beat him in a sudden death playoff for the title in the Tournament of Champions, Player had some second thoughts, too.

"Now I'm going home to South Africa," said the globetrotting Player. "It's 10,000 miles. I'm leaving tonight. And I'll tell you one thing: Ten thousand miles is a long way to think about missing a putt."

He missed one of about 12 feet, perhaps less, on the playoff hole that would have extended the tourney at least another hole.

"I thought it was a perfect putt," he said. But it missed. He slumped over, his hands dangling in despair as it just slid by the left side.

Then Geiberger, whose timidity had cost him a shot at an outright victory on the last hole of regulation play, firmly, authoritatively, rammed home a shorter one — maybe nine feet — for the birdie that secured him his seventh title in 16 years on the pro golf tour.

"I didn't want to go back out there," the soft-spoken, easygoing, mild-mannered Geiberger said of the playoff. "I was just holding on. I had to pull myself together to make myself go back out there."

He got some help.

Geiberger went to the last hole of regulation play with a one-stroke lead over Player. He put his approach some 35 feet from the cup and needed only to get it down in two.

But he timidly left his first putt six or seven feet short.

And he missed that. It was a bogey and he and player were tied at 277, 11 under par on the 6,855-yard La Costa Country Club course. Geiberger, the leader since the second round, had a closing 73 and Player made up six shots with a 67.

Then, going to the 15th tee, Geiberger got some help.

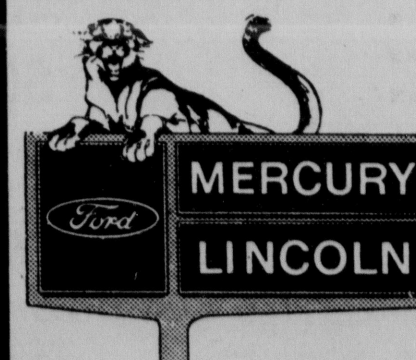

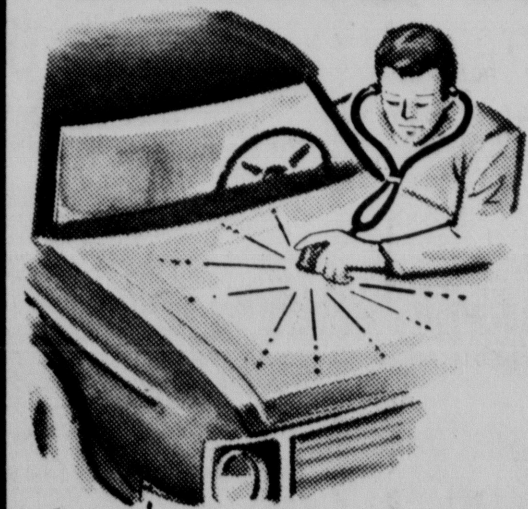

"My wife handed me half a peanut butter and jelly sandwich," he said. "She said, 'Here, eat this. We need everything we can get. We're pulling out all the stops.'"

The frail, skinny Geiberger has had a habit of munching peanut butter sandwiches to keep up his strength on the course, a habit that was highly publicized in his 1966 PGA national championship.

"You know, he said, a look of amazement spreading across his face, "maybe there's something to it. Maybe it does work. It's my secret weapon."

He birdied the hole and won, collecting $40,000 from the total purse of $200,000. Player, who just missed his birdie after a magnificent, hooking second shot on the playoff hole, had 10,000 miles to think about it.

"We are going through a spell where every mistake we make is magnified," said Houston Manager Preston Gomez. "Every time we make a mistake it hurts us."

A two-run single by Johnny Bench capped a four-run 10th inning for Cincinnati that carried the Reds to the victory.

Terry Crowley opened the inning with a pinch single off loser Doug Konecny. Dan Driessen walked. Pete Rose put down a sacrifice bunt and Konecny threw late to third leaving the bases loaded.

With a 2-0 count on Dave Concepcion, Wayne Granger relieved Konecny. Concepcion grounded to short and Roger Metzger threw home in an attempt to force pinch runner Ed Armbruster but catcher Milt May's foot was off the bag and he was charged with an error as the go ahead run scored.

LE Defeats Falcons In Mid State Action

Logan Elm moved into second place all alone in the Mid State League baseball standings with an 11-8 win over Fairfield Union Saturday.

It was a makeup game for the Braves of a game rained out last Thursday. A scheduled doubleheader with London was canceled so the league game could be played.

The Braves have a 6-1 record in the league with two games remaining on their Mid State schedule. Carroll still leads with a 6-0 record.

Steve Rawlins was the winning pitcher Saturday, but he needed relief help from Derek Morris in the sixth. Rawlins fanned five, walked seven and allowed two hits, both homeruns. Morris whiffed one, walked three and allowed three hits.

The losing pitcher was Huston. The Braves went ahead in the first inning when Jeff Reichelderfer and Scott Pontius walked, Scott intentionally, and then scored on a 2-out double by Chuck Cave. In the top of the second Steve Rawlins walked and with two outs, Greg Justus smashed a homerun over the right center field fence.

In the top of the third, Reichelderfer and Pontius beat out infield singles. Reichelderfer scored on two wild pitches. Rob Black walked, stole second and both Pontius and Black scored on Steve Rawlins' double to left center.

In the fourth, Greg Justus led off with his second homerun over the right field fence, Randy Pontius walked, stole second and scored on Cave's double, Black walked, and both Cave and Black scored on Steve Rawlins' double.

Weather permitting, the Braves are scheduled to play Fisher Catholic tonight, Southeastern Tuesday, both at home, and travel to Liberty Union Thursday.

Race Crash Fatal To 4

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Flames and smoke clouded the sunny skies over the controversial Montjuich circuit Sunday after the worst disaster in Spain's auto racing history.

A wave of panic washed over the massive crowd of 100,000 after at least four died and another 12 were seriously injured in a tragedy that racers and officials said should and could have been averted.

The much-protested Spanish Grand Prix started innocently and cautiously over a course described by Brazilian world driving champion Emerson Fittipaldi as "too risky" and "dangerous." Fittipaldi withdrew his entry from the race Saturday, hours before death and destruction took over.

On the dangerous Font Del Gat curve of the 29th lap, the Embassy Hill car driven by West Germany's Rolf Stommelen crashed into a protective barrier, burst into flames and careened into the crowd at a favorite vantage point of the fans.

"I saw some spectators by my side aflame, as though they were human torches," said one spectator, who was grazed by the car and suffered scratches as it passed. "The car, shooting flames in all directions, landed on a group of about 20 persons standing by my side. I was convinced it was the end for me. I still don't know how I managed to escape."

Jimmy Connors Top World Tennis Player

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jimmy Connors has erased any doubt — even in the minds of the Australians — who is the world's No. 1 tennis player ... and he gained himself a half million dollars in doing so.

Armed with confidence, speed and accuracy, Connors defeated No. 2-ranked John Newcombe Saturday in an internationally televised match at Caesars Palace 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

And today, Australian newspapers crowned Connors the world's best, though none professed a liking for the irascible tennis star.

Amy Alcott, 19, of Santa Monica, Calif., was one of 16 women who qualified for the 1975 Ladies PGA golf tour.

Foolish Pleasure, a colt owned by J. L. Greer, and Ruffian, a filly running under the Locust Hill Farm colors, were unbeaten as 2-year-olds in 1974.

place finish but picked up three fourth spots: Scott Bowman, shot; Scott Simpson, 100; Mike McCoy, 880.

Fifth place finishers for the Tigers were: Alan Van Vliet, shot; George Moore, high jump; Doug Palm, mile; Jim Francis, 440; Dave Phillips, 180 LH. Frank Merrill was sixth in the long jump.

Circleville will travel to Unioto Tuesday to defend its South Central Ohio crown in the league meet. The Tigers have captured the event for the last five years and will be out to make it six in a row.

Unioto is located just north of Chillicothe on the Egypt Pike. Take Route 104 past the Veterans Hospital and turn right on Route 207. The school will be about a mile on the right side.

There will be a refreshment stand for the hungry fans.

Field events and running preliminaries will start at 3:30 p.m. with running finals set for 5:30 p.m.

Here are the complete results of the Grove City meet:

Teays Valley Sweeps Two From Pickerington

Teays Valley traveled to Pickerington Saturday and swept both ends of a doubleheader with the Tigers, 4-2 and 6-5.

Brad Stuthard hurled the opening 4-2 victory as he scattered two hits, walked eight and fanned 10.

The Vikings tallied a lone run in the top of the first and exploded for three more in the fourth. The big blow in the inning was a double by Rusty Rathburn that sent two Viking runners across the plate.

Russell and Turbett shared mound duties for the Tigers. They gave up a total of six hits, three walks and struck out eight.

Picking up the hits for Teays Valley were: Steve Williams, two singles; Rathburn, double; Ron Bumgarner, single; Terry Southers, single; and Chuck Glitt, single.

The Vikings played errorless ball while the Tigers misplayed the ball twice.

Keith Pettibone was the starter and winner in the second game but needed help in the seventh inning from Mark Messick after he had walked the first two batters. Pettibone allowed 10 hits, walked six and fanned four. Messick didn't give up a hit but walked one and struck out one.

The Vikings scored a pair of runs in the first, second and sixth innings while Pickerington tallied three in the first frame, one in the second and plated a single marker in the last of the seventh.

Turbett, Saller and Perry were on the hill for the Tigers. They gave up a total of seven hits, eight walks and fanned two.

Getting hits for Teays Valley were: Terry Southers, double; Brad Stuthard, double; Ron Bumgarner, double; Chuck Glitt, single; Steve Williams, single; Jim Baxter, single; Keith Pettibone, single.

Teays Valley committed one error in the game and the Tigers had three.

The Vikings are now 11-4 for the season, 3-2 in the league, and will be at Marysville 4:30 p.m. tonight.

Al Geiberger Wins Tourney Of Champs

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — "It's nice," observed Gary Player, "to see the nice guys win once in a while."

But, while he gave full credit to Al Geiberger for the bold birdie putt that beat him in a sudden death playoff for the title in the Tournament of Champions, Player had some second thoughts, too.

"Now I'm going home to South Africa," said the globetrotting Player. "It's 10,000 miles. I'm leaving tonight. And I'll tell you one thing: Ten thousand miles is a long way to think about missing a putt."

He missed one of about 12 feet, perhaps less, on the playoff hole that would have extended the tourney at least another hole.

"I thought it was a perfect putt," he said. But it missed. He slumped over, his hands dangling in despair as it just slid by the left side.

Then Geiberger, whose timidity had cost him a shot at an outright victory on the last hole of regulation play, firmly, authoritatively, rammed home a shorter one — maybe nine feet — for the birdie that secured him his seventh title in 16 years on the pro golf tour.

"I didn't want to go back out there," the soft-spoken, easygoing, mild-mannered Geiberger said of the playoff. "I was just holding on. I had to pull myself together to make myself go back out there."

He got some help.

Geiberger went to the last hole of regulation play with a one-stroke lead over Player. He put his approach some 35 feet from the cup and needed only to get it down in two.

But he timidly left his first putt six or seven feet short.

And he missed that. It was a bogey and he and player were tied at 277, 11 under par on the 6,855-yard La Costa Country Club course. Geiberger, the leader since the second round, had a closing 73 and Player made up six shots with a 67.

Then, going to the 15th tee, Geiberger got some help.

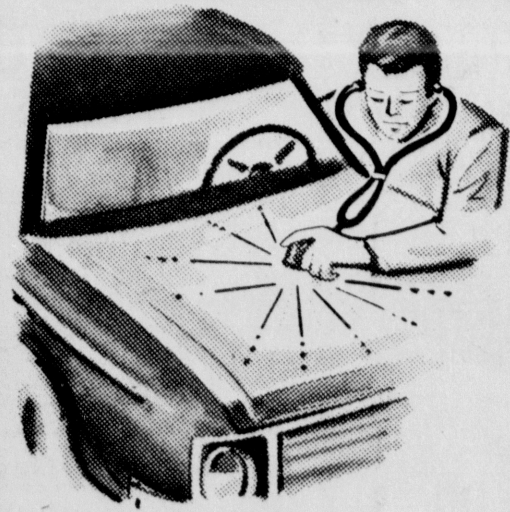

"My wife handed me half a peanut butter and jelly sandwich," he said. "She said, 'Here, eat this. We need everything we can get. We're pulling out all the stops.'"

The frail, skinny Geiberger has had a habit of munching peanut butter sandwiches to keep up his strength on the course, a habit that was highly publicized in his 1966 PGA national championship.

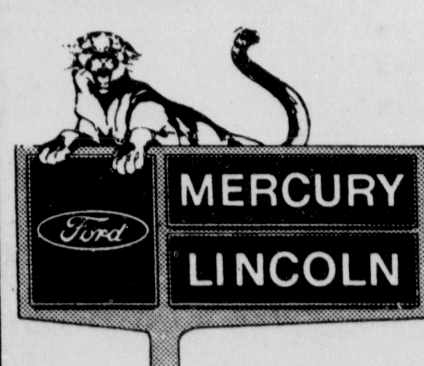

"You know, he said, a look of amazement spreading across his face, 'maybe there's something to it. Maybe it does work. It's my secret weapon.'"

He birdied the hole and won, collecting $40,000 from the total purse of $200,000. Player, who just missed his birdie after a magnificent, hooking second shot on the playoff hole, had 10,000 miles to think about it.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FORT TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a chance to prove themselves. Be steadfast, optimistic.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Excellent influences! Now's the time to launch new ventures, set forth your ingenious ideas and make decisions regarding future activities.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your creative ideas may need some revision before they can be carried out, so be sure to study all angles of feasibility before presenting them.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Especially favored now: personal relationships and intellectual pursuits. Stress your efficient and amenable side and you can't help but earn credits.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some planetary restrictions. Shun contentious matters, unscrupulous persons, risky and untried ventures.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unique ideas, thoughtfully presented — and at the right time — could bring new gains now. A good period, also, for making long-range plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Channel efforts where they will serve advantageously, where your unusual talents are recognized and appreciated. Don't be led off a constructive course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): The Sagittarian is noted for his generosity, but don't let excessive sympathy or emotions divert your altruism into dubious causes. Use good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences generous, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance here to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be different, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Certain suggestions must be ignored; others accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely active person — both mentally and physically. You have a great love of beauty and exceptionally good taste. Many artists, writers, designers and theatrical stars were born in Taurus. Paradoxically, with all your love of the talent for the creative, you could be a whiz at finances. But if you take up some form of business as a career, you will probably pursue some form of art as a hobby. Your wholesome outlook on life and optimism in the face of obstacles are outstanding. Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Stars warn against vacillating, changing plans or projects before they have been given a chance to prove themselves. Be steadfast, optimistic.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Excellent influences! Now's the time to launch new ventures, set forth your ingenious ideas and make decisions regarding future activities.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your creative ideas may need some revision before they can be carried out, so be sure to study all angles of feasibility before presenting them.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Especially favored now: personal relationships and intellectual pursuits. Stress your efficient and amenable side and you can't help but earn credits.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some planetary restrictions. Shun contentious matters, unscrupulous persons, risky and untried ventures.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unique ideas, thoughtfully presented — and at the right time — could bring new gains now. A good period, also, for making long-range plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Channel efforts where they will serve advantageously, where your unusual talents are recognized and appreciated. Don't be led off a constructive course.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): The Sagittarian is noted for his generosity, but don't let excessive sympathy or emotions divert your altruism into dubious causes. Use good judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Planetary influences generous, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance here to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be different, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Certain suggestions must be ignored; others accepted quickly, put to discerning use. The right choices can result in a field day.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely active person — both mentally and physically. You have a great love of beauty and exceptionally good taste. Many artists, writers, designers and theatrical stars were born in Taurus. Paradoxically, with all your love of the talent for the creative, you could be a whiz at finances. But if you take up some form of business as a career, you will probably pursue some form of art as a hobby. Your wholesome outlook on life and optimism in the face of obstacles are outstanding. Pickaway Farmers Union Meets

The April meeting of the Pickaway Co. Farmers Union meeting was held the 19th at Pickaway Twp. School with 213 members present.

Following the dinner Willard England, president presided at the business meeting. The meeting opened with group singing.

England then commented on the Washington Newsletter received each month. The weaker House version of the Farm Bill was adopted by the House. The bill now includes the following provisions for 1975 crops. Corn: Loan rate $1.85 per bu. (63 per cent of parity based on March 15, 1975 figures) and "established price," $2.25 per bu. (77 per cent of parity); Soybeans: Loan rate, formula at about $3.94 per bu. (60 per cent of parity); Wheat: Loan rate, $2.50 per bu. (56 per cent of parity), "established price" $3.10 per bu. (70 per cent); Cotton: Loan rate, 38 cents per lb. (50 per cent), "established price," 45 cents per lb. (60 per cent of parity); Milk: Prime support on manufacturing milk at 80 per cent of parity with quarterly adjustments to maintain the 80 per cent level.

Agriculture Secretary Butz is still urging the President to veto the Farm Bill.

In the May Issue of Farm Journal Secretary Butz makes it clear that the Government wants Farmers to over produce and insure low consumer prices. It clearly shows that the Administration is not responsive to the problems of farmers that the cries of consumers are of prime importance. The best method of opposition to this unwritten government policy is voluntary acreage reductions.

England stated that their are 4,500,000 Farmers Union Members. President Woodcock of Farmers Union stated that farmers buy 55 per cent of all products sold. England stated that the "Older Americans Act of 1975", which continues the Green Thumb employment Program for four more years, passed the house Tuesday 227 to 19, well above the two-thirds required to override a veto. Farmers Union is the "National Contractor" operating the Green Thumb Program, which provides jobs for more than 6,000 low income rural people, 55 years of age and above.

The Senate passed an energy bill which would maintain price controls on domestic crude oil. The bill differs sharply from President Ford's proposed energy program. The Senate Bill (5.622) would prohibit the Administration from removing the $5.25 per barrel ceiling on "old" domestic oil without congressional approval. These are wells that were in operation during 1972.

The price of "new oil" which is now controlled, would be rolled back to the Jan. 31, 1975 price which is about $11.25. "New" oil is oil from wells established since 1973 and oil that comes from increased production from wells established before that time.

Another issue discussed was the Inheritance Tax Free Federal Tax Exemption for farms. Since Farms have increased in size taxes can force sale of many of our Farms in case of death. This Inheritance Tax exemption is being changed from $60,000 to $200,000.

The next meeting will be 8 p.m. May 17. Anyone who would like to join the organization should contact either Willard England, Gene Patrick or Joanne Patrick.

Police File 3 Charges After High-Speed Chase

Circleville Police, investigating five theft and four vandalism reports during the weekend, were also involved in a high-speed chase that resulted in three charges filed against an 18-year-old man.

Bruce A. Rogers, 18, Route 2, was charged with fleeing police, speeding 75 miles an hour in a 35 zone, and reckless operation following the 2:53 a.m. Sunday chase.

Police Sgt. Jerry Smallwood and Ptl. Ken Henn were in the process of checking Rogers' vehicle when the chase started.

According to the report, the car was sitting halfway up the south lane on the old Smith property on the west side of Court and Walnut Sts. with its parking lights on.

When the officers approached, the car went north across the grass and out on S. Court St., headed south.

Rogers allegedly drove through a red light at Court and Walnut Sts., headed east on Logan St., and ran stop signs on Logan St. at Pickaway and Washington St. intersections.

Rogers allegedly drove north on Washington St., driving through stop signs at Walnut and Ohio Sts., and turned east on Ohio St., running a car off the road at the Ohio and Clinton St. intersection.

The officers were able to obtain a moving speed clock of 80 miles an hour before Rogers apparently drove through the stop sign at the Kingston Pike and Ohio St.

He apparently went south on the Kingston Pike at speeds in excess of 90 miles an hour before finally pulling over about a half a mile south of the Circleville-Tarleton Rd. intersection.

A soft drink machine at a laundry on Margaret Lane was opened, apparently with a key, by thieves who took about $12 in change, police said.

A battery was removed from a truck parked at the Pickaway Grain Co., 309 W. Main St., during the weekend, and the post was broken from another truck battery.

About $50 in bushes were taken from Riffle Trailer Court, according to Vic Riffle, Route 3. The five bushes were apparently dug from the ground.

Frank L. Crane, 520 E. Union St., told police that thieves took his bicycle while it was parked at a house on Norfolk Ave. The bike, red in color with a basket on the front, is valued at

Officer Slays Holdup Man

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Detroit man was shot to death early Sunday at a suburban motel after allegedly attempting to hold up an off-duty policeman who was attending a state police convention, according to police.

Police refused to identify the dead man pending notification of relatives.

Delhi Township Patrolman Robert Chetwood of Cincinnati told police he fired two shots at a man after the suspect tried to rob him and a female friend in one of the motel rooms.

Sharonville police said the dead man was found on a walkway with a pistol in his hand. He had been shot in the chest. Chetwood said he had ordered the man to halt. Instead he spun around holding the gun, Chetwood said.

More than 100 police officers and their relatives were attending the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) state convention at the motel.

Five Traffic Cases Head Court's Docket

Five traffic cases headed the list of cases heard last week in juvenile court. One speeding case was transferred to Wood County, he home county of the defendant.

Ernest D. Dillon, 17, Columbus, was ordered to pay $25 of an original $50 fine for driving while his license was under suspension and for driving while intoxicated. His license was then suspended for one year. Other charges against the youth were disorderly conduct and possession of an hallucinogen for which he was placed in the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Fifteen-year-old David Harber, Route 1, Ashville was cited into juvenile court for driving an unlicensed motor vehicle and driving without a valid operator's license. Judge Guy G. Cline fined him $50 and then suspended $40 of the fine. The court also ordered that Harber may use his permit to take driver training but stipulated that he turn over his license to the court for six months after he has received it.

Keith A. Pettibone, 17, Ashville, appeared on a speeding charge of driving 68 miles per hour in a 55 mile zone. He received a $10 suspended fine and has his license suspended for one month. The court modified the suspension order to allow Pettibone to use his license for driving to school, traffic school and work.

Speeding charges were also filed in juvenile court against Steven M. Penn, 17, 503 Springhollow Road. He, too, received a $10 suspended fine and had his license suspended for one month with driving privileges restored for driving to school and traffic school.

The court found Larry Gene Evans, Xenia, not guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minors. He had been charged with furnishing alcoholic beverages to two minors.

A 15-year-old Ashville girl was convicted of petit theft at Buckeye Mart. The court placed her on probation for one year.

The same offense of petit theft at Buckeye Mart was filed against a 13-year-old Adelphi girl. She was also placed on probation for one year.

In final action during the week, the court heard charges of violation of probation and drinking intoxicating beverages against a 15-year-old Tarleton girl. Judge Cline ordered her to be continued on probation until April 18, 1978. Her violation of probation was based on failure to observe the country's curfew laws.

Hot new source for gas.

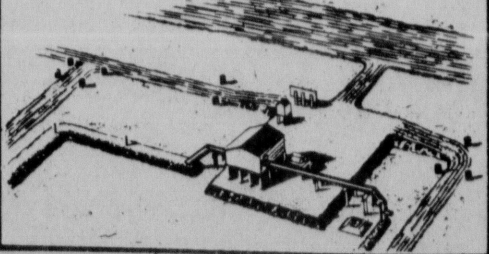

One of the hottest new sources for natural gas is the frozen north. America badly needs supplies of the clean gas energy available there to help solve the energy crisis.

Columbia has gone to the Arctic to get this gas:

- we're financing drilling programs in Alaska and Canada, including on the far islands of the high Arctic.
- we've gotten the rights to purchase substantial gas reserves already discovered on Alaska's North Slope. Once the Alaskan oil pipeline gets started, a natural gas line can also be built from the North Slope. We can't produce the gas until oil production is underway.
- we're participating in costly environmental and engineering studies on how to build gas lines from the frozen north to consumers in Columbia's service area.

There's much work yet to do, but gas from the far north will be coming along. Columbia Gas is working hard today to meet your energy needs tomorrow.

Natural gas pipelines from the Arctic will be built with proper regard for the area they cross. A study group in which Columbia participates has operated complex test sites and conducted lengthy field studies to examine the impact of a gas line on the land and waterways and the wildlife that inhabit them. These studies are providing the data necessary to meet growing energy needs with minimum disturbance of the environment.

The Senate Bill (5.622) would prohibit the Administration from removing the $5.25 per barrel ceiling on "old" domestic oil without congressional approval. These are wells that were in operation during 1972.

The price of "new oil" which is not now controlled, would be rolled back to the Jan. 31, 1975 price which is about $11.25. "New" oil is oil from wells established since 1973 and oil that comes from increased production from wells established before that time.

Another issue discussed was the Inheritance Tax Free Federal Tax Exemption for farms. Since Farms have increased in size taxes can force sale of many of our Farms in case of death. This Inheritance Tax exemption is being changed from $60,000 to $200,000.

The next meeting will be 8 p.m. May 17. Anyone who would like to join the organization should contact either Willard England, Gene Patrick or Joanne Patrick.

Police File 3 Charges After High-Speed Chase

Circleville Police, investigating five theft and four vandalism reports during the weekend, were also involved in a high-speed chase that resulted in three charges filed against an 18-year-old man.

Bruce A. Rogers, 18, Route 2, was charged with fleeing police, speeding 75 miles an hour in a 35 zone, and reckless operation following the 2:53 a.m. Sunday chase.

Police Sgt. Jerry Smallwood and Ptl. Ken Henn were in the process of checking Rogers' vehicle when the chase started.

According to the report, the car was sitting halfway up the south lane on the old Smith property on the west side of Court and Walnut Sts. with its parking lights on.

When the officers approached, the car went north across the grass and out on S. Court St., headed south.

Rogers allegedly drove through a red light at Court and Walnut Sts., headed east on Logan St., and ran stop signs on Logan St. at Pickaway and Washington St. intersections.

Rogers allegedly drove north on Washington St., driving through stop signs at Walnut and Ohio Sts., and turned east on Ohio St., running a car off the road at the Ohio and Clinton St. intersection.

The officers were able to obtain a moving speed clock of 80 miles an hour before Rogers apparently drove through the stop sign at the Kingston Pike and Ohio St.

He apparently went south on the Kingston Pike at speeds in excess of 90 miles an hour before finally pulling over about a half a mile south of the Circleville-Tarlton Rd. intersection.

A soft drink machine at a laundry on Margaret Lane was opened, apparently with a key, by thieves who took about $12 in change, police said.

A battery was removed from a truck parked at the Pickaway Grain Co., 309 W. Main St., during the weekend, and the post was broken from another truck battery.

About $50 in bushes were taken from Riffle Trailer Court, according to Vic Riffle, Route 3. The five bushes were apparently dug from the ground.

Frank L. Crane, 520 E. Union St., told police that thieves took his bicycle while it was parked at a house on Norfolk Ave. The bike, red in color with a basket on the front, is valued at $8. Thieves took about three-fourths of a tank of gasoline from a car owned by M. J. Marshall, 151 Highland Ave. The car was parked in front of his house.

Vandals apparently ignited firecrackers on the roof of a car owned by Stephen Stocklen, 146 E. High St. The vehicle was parked at the Circleville High School.

Mrs. C. H. Ash, 348 E. Franklin St., told officers that vandals broke the windshield on her car which was parked behind her house.

Vandals used a sharp object to scratch the left side of a car owned by Ward Thompson, 316 S. Washington St. The car was parked at Washington St. and Barnes Ave.

John Demint, Riffle Trailer Court, told police that vandals apparently used a pellet gun to make dents in the side of a trailer.

Officer Slays Holdup Man

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Detroit man was shot to death early Sunday at a suburban motel after allegedly attempting to hold up an off-duty policeman who was attending a state police convention, according to police.

Police refused to identify the dead man pending notification of relatives.

Delhi Township Patrolman Robert Chetwood of Cincinnati told police he fired two shots at a man after the suspect tried to rob him and a female friend in one of the motel rooms.

Sharonville police said the dead man was found on a walkway with a pistol in his hand. He had been shot in the chest. Chetwood said he had ordered the man to halt. Instead he spun around holding the gun, Chetwood said.

More than 100 police officers and their relatives were attending the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) state convention at the motel.

Five Traffic Cases Head Court's Docket

Five traffic cases headed the list of cases heard last week in juvenile court. One speeding case was transferred to Wood County, he home county of the defendant.

Ernest D. Dillon, 17, Columbus, was ordered to pay $25 of an original $50 fine for driving while his license was under suspension and for driving while intoxicated. His license was then suspended for one year. Other charges against the youth were disorderly conduct and possession of an hallucinogen for which he was placed in the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Fifteen-year-old David Harber, Route 1, Ashville was cited into juvenile court for driving an unlicensed motor vehicle and driving without a valid operator's license. Judge Guy G. Cline fined him $50 and then suspended $40 of the fine. The court also ordered that Harber may use his permit to take driver training but stipulated that he turn over his license to the court for six months after he has received it.

Keith A. Pettibone, 17, Ashville, appeared on a speeding charge of driving 68 miles per hour in a 55 mile zone. He received a $10 suspended fine and has his license suspended for one month. The court modified the suspension order to allow Pettibone to use his license for driving to school, traffic school and work.

Speeding charges were also filed in juvenile court against Steven M. Penn, 17, 503 Springhollow Road. He, too, received a $10 suspended fine and had his license suspended for one month with driving privileges restored for driving to school and traffic school.

The court found Larry Gene Evans, Xenia, not guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minors. He had been charged with furnishing alcoholic beverages to two minors.

In final action during the week, the court heard charges of violation of probation and drinking intoxicating beverages against a 15-year-old Tarlton girl. Judge Cline ordered her to be continued on probation until April 18, 1978. Her violation of probation was based on failure to observe the country's curfew laws.

Hot new source for gas.

One of the hottest new sources for natural gas is the frozen north.

America badly needs supplies of the clean gas energy available there to help solve the energy crisis.

Columbia has gone to the Arctic to get this gas:

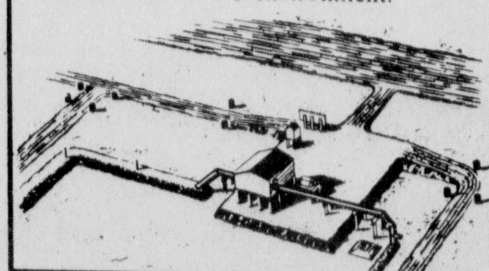

—we're financing drilling programs in Alaska and Canada, including on the far islands of the high Arctic.

—we've gotten the rights to purchase substantial gas reserves already discovered on Alaska's North Slope. Once the Alaskan oil pipeline gets started, a natural gas line can also be built from the North Slope. We can't produce the gas until oil production is underway.

—we're participating in costly environmental and engineering studies on how to build gas lines from the frozen north to consumers in Columbia's service area.

There's much work yet to do, but gas from the far north will be coming along. Columbia Gas is working hard today to meet your energy needs tomorrow.

Natural gas pipelines from the Arctic will be built with proper regard for the area they cross. A study group in which Columbia participates has operated complex test sites and conducted lengthy field studies to examine the impact of a gas line on the land and waterways and the wildlife that inhabit them. These studies are providing the data necessary to meet growing energy needs with minimum disturbance of the environment.
